GETTING COMFORTABLE?

By JANET PARKER

Twenty years ago, Edward D. Morgan became superintendent of the Jefferson Union High School District — a single campus and 1,500 students.

This month, Dr. Floyd Gonella assumes that same position — and becomes superintendent of six schools with an enrollment of 8,000 high school and 10,000 adult division students.

It's obvious times have changed.

The JUHSD has undergone growth and economic upheaval since 1956, when only Jefferson High School — where Gonella was a football standout — was in operation.

In assuming the role of superintendent, Gonella enters a new period of financial turmoil and declining enrollment — two new problems for administrative consideration in the JUHSD.

Morgan, who retires this year, recalls a much different district when he entered in the 1950s.

Then, there were no homes west of Skyline Boulevard. Colma Creek Gulley was in the area St. Francis Heights now stands, and the Westmoor High School site was the Callan Pig Farm.

IN FACT, he says watching the growth of Daly City and JUHSD was one of the most rewarding experiences of his tenure.

"I hit the district at a very fortunate time and I'm a very fortunate guy," Morgan said. "That was the time the community was beginning to explode in growth."

Every two or three years the population would increase by 1,000 and a new high school would be built.

At first, money was a problem. The several successive tax override elections were easily approved by the voters.

Now, however, the JUHSD isn't much different than any other district, he said. They're all going broke.

"Finances are the number one problem in the coming years," Morgan said. Until now, the JUHSD has managed to retain all staff members although there has been no increase in salaries.

In the future, the retiring superintendent said, staff reductions will be the only way the district will be able to maintain educational services. Declining enrollment and decreasing state revenue are the culprits.

"I'm not too confident the State of California will give schools much more money. Governor Brown has already made that clear," Morgan said.

He recalls beginning his own teaching career in Oakdale at the height of the depression at $1,400 a year. Now, a teacher with the same experience would earn $10,000 a year in JUHSD. Yet, he said he believes his salary was more sufficient to meet the cost of living than what the districts are paying their teachers today.

He said he's always told the board he would cut transportation and athletics if the district were in a financial bind.

"I HOPE we can do it rationally and cut things vital but not central to education," he said.

Not many communities will be willing to approve tax override elections and, as a result, the only way to get money will be through staff reductions.

"To Dr. Gonella, I offer hope and confidence," Morgan said.

Despite the gloomy financial outlook, Dr. Gonella already is outlining his intentions and expectations for his role in the superintendent's chair which he assumes this month.

He has been JUHSD assistant superintendent of education since 1969.

Gonella first taught at Westmoor High School in Daly City, where the JUHSD district offices are located.

$5-million for Heroin, Cash Seized

Brisbane has offered to put up $5 million toward the purchase of the so-called "Saddle Area" of San Bruno mountain — proposed site for a new community of some 20,000 people.

The offer is contingent on several things, including a pact with Crocker Land Co. to annex the lucrative Crocker Industrial Park.

City Manager Clark Smithson said the industrial park would generate monies needed to float $5 million in revenue bonds.

But Crocker-Foremost, McKesson-AMFAC, owners of the property atop San Bruno Mountain, have not said what they want for the largest undeveloped chunk of real estate in the Bay Area.

A recent fiscal analysis report on the mountain states the total assessed valuation for 1,400 acres of property in the area is $2.9 million.

Others have suggested the price of the saddle area is in excess of $8 million.

Clarkson said a citywide survey conducted during the past few weeks indicates residents want the mountain to remain open space.

The city manager hopes to attract the county — which is now assisting in the planning of the development — the state, and, perhaps, the federal government to participate with Brisbane in the purchase.

The Brisbane council Monday moved to formally ask the County Board of Supervisors for their support in the matter.

According to a letter sent to the board on June 13, from Brisbane Mayor Art Montenegro Jr., the contribution of $5 million would be based on annexation of the saddle area, northeast ridge, and Crocker Industrial Park to Brisbane.

Montenegro noted that last January Brisbane lost a contract for police and fire protection for the Crocker Industrial Park to Daly City.

This contract provided some 13 per cent of the city's total budget.

And while the loss "did not cripple us," it did affect Brisbane's long range capital improvement program "and the ability to participate in projects such as the purchase of San Bruno Mountain," Montenegro said.

Arrested for possession of heroin for sale in the Saturday raid in San Francisco was Franklin Thornton.

The cash was turned over to the Internal Revenue Service, police said.

Both persons were charged with possession of heroin.

Estram Corretger was also charged with harboring a fugitive.

Pacifica Cable TV Eyes New Offices

Pacifica's cable television soon might be setting up in the Ed Cordero Body Shop, 1080 Palmetto Ave., if the firm complies with 10 conditions laid out by city planning commissioners Monday night.

Spencer Wood, representing Telecommunications, Inc., and Ed Cordero, who is leasing his building, first must work out an agreement concerning the required moving of a fence to allow a minimum 14 parking spaces.

Cordero said he wasn't particularly favorable to the idea, but said he had no great objection if it was necessary. "We (he and Wood) have some negotiations to go through," said Cordero. "Subject to these negotiations, it will be permissible."

Commissioners also imposed a condition that there be no outside storage or maintenance of vehicles in the parking area.

And before any moving in is done, Wood must submit a plot plan showing exactly how parking at the site will be accomplished.

City Planner Jim Miller said 14 spaces is the "bare minimum" without a request for a variance.

DC Pares Down Funds

Daly City City Manager David Rowe has recommended a pared-down allocation of Revenue Sharing funds to applicants.

The City Council is expected to take up the matter at its regular meeting Monday.

Rowe chopped out several applicants he said were not eligible under existing federal regulations to receive funds.

They include:

• Dial-A-Ride. This would only be eligible if some kind of bid or franchise procedure meeting State requirements were used.

• PACT. Aimed at assisting in the economic development of small private businesses.

• An application for the Daly City Community for Children Services, which would have funded capitol construction projects to be owned by the organization. These cannot be funded unless the property is owned by the city, Rowe said.

• Foster Parents Association's request to operate a turn-about store also was rejected. The proposed day care center for foster children likewise could not qualify unless foster parents were in the "poor" category. And, if they were thus classified, they could not be eligible to be foster parents, Rowe said.

• Damien Switchboard and Friends of Teenage Parents appear to be questionable for funds under present rules, according to Rowe. If funding is granted by the council, written approval should be obtained from the Federal Revenue Sharing Office, he said.

Those applicants who were recommended by Rowe were cut back in most cases.

The Guadalupe Health Clinic asked for $64,000 and received a recommendation for $35,000.

Daly City's Community Service Center was cut to $75,000 from the $98,800 requested.

The Finance and police departments were chopped $19,000 — to $52,000 — for computer services.

Robber Steals Woman's Purse

A man driving a "flashy" late model car robbed an elderly San Francisco woman near the Daly City Bay Area Rapid Transit station Saturday about 1 p.m.

The victim, Rose Cramer, told police she was walking along St. Charles Way near the station when the man jumped from his car and grabbed her purse containing $20.

These allegations were made earlier by Phil Ratajlow, a former member of the strite-torn Guadalupe Health Clinic in Daly City.

He volunteered his work and I have this conversation with Mr. Cooper on tape proving it. Now he wants to be paid," she said.

Ms. Fernandez did admit the pre-paid health plan for the center was a fiasco and was recently cancelled by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) in favor of the neighborhood health plan concept.

It originally was thought the center could enroll some 5,000 persons in the pre-paid health plan.

Expectations never materialized.

To date, this plan has shown a deficit of $58,564.

Such losses cause other medical care costs to soar, Ms. Fernandez said.

Dr. Donovan said dropping of the pre-paid plan "is a step backward" for the center.

In recent weeks, Ms. Fernandez has closed down the center's posh School Street offices in favor of a small office in a corner of the health center structure at 75 Wellington Avenue.

She said the core of people needing help is in the top of the Mission Street hill area and not on the other side of town (School Street) where it is hard for people to come to.

Give Him Credit — He Claims a Record

By RICK SULLIVAN

Walter Cavanaugh, so says the Guinness Book of Records, holds the largest collection of credit cards in the world: 392.

Walter: You have a contender; he's a friend of yours, Richard Hutchins, who says he's got you beat.

The San Bruno pharmacist claims he holds a collection of 730 credit cards, excluding duplicates, which, he says, if added to his assemblage would boost his total to well over 1,000.

Cavanaugh, a former San Mateo resident now making his home in Santa Clara, has known for some time the persistent Hutchins would challenge his distinction of possessing the ability to charge for more goods and services in more places in the world than any other person.

The contender has been nipping at the tail of the current record holder since 1972, when they worked together at a Mountain View pharmacy. At that time the two pharmacists made a gentlemen's wager on who could collect the most credit cards after one year. Cavanaugh emerged the victor with 50, while Hutchins, vowing he would top his collection "some day," came up with only 40.

Hutchins claims he has reached his "some day" and promises by the time he gathers 1,000 credit cards, hopefully by the end of the year, he will submit his collection to Guinness and vie for the world's record.

"I'm sure he is counting his duplicates and probably is including some library cards," commented Cavanaugh, who has made several television appearances and displays a part of his collection at the Ripley's Believe It or Not Museum in San Francisco.

"Recently we counted his collection together and he came nowhere near the 539 cards I have now."

"Not so," claims the determined Hutchins. "I have 730 cards, which include no duplicates, and no library cards; he's welcome to count them."

That, happily, will officially be conducted by Guinness, which annually updates its record book.

Besides being motivated to win a gentleman's bet, Hutchins said he became determined to acquire as much credit as he could, after he moved to Southern California from Iowa and his application for a major bank credit card was refused.

"That really perturbed me," said Hutchins. "I held (this major credit card) when I was in Iowa for years, and when I moved to California and applied for the same card in this state I was refused."

This made me determined to get more credit than anyone else, and in the process show how absurd getting credit is. There is absolutely no coordination between being granted a card and being refused one."

At first Hutchins' hobby included a little exercise, he walked to all the local major gas stations, through shopping centers, then to the local hotels and to the airport where he filled out applications for cards for all the airlines and rent-a-car companies. It wasn't long before he learned, however, that all this running around just wasn't necessary. He converted his active avocation into a passive armchair hobby.

"All I do now is consult a Dunn and Bradstreet book and get a list of all the major stores and service outlets in the country, send for applications, fill them out and send them back. Within a few weeks I'm getting the cards in the mail."

Hutchins admits he "has to be in the mood" to fill out the applications, but has simplified the process over the years by sending a mimeographed sheet of paper listing the major cards he holds with the applications.

When asked on the forms to list his place of employment, he simply notes the pharmacy where he works and writes in his own private telephone number. When the credit check is made, either by the company itself or a credit bureau, he answers his own credit verification.

"I can do 12 applications in an hour on an electric typewriter," boasts Hutchins.

Hutchins' collection is impressive. In plastic photo album sheets there are cards from all the major oil companies, airlines, department stores, casinos in Reno, Las Vegas and Lake Tahoe, specialty stores throughout the country, and even from Harrod's in London.

Of the latter card, he commented: "Although I understand now she doesn't shop there anymore, I wanted to get a credit card from a store where the Queen of England shops."

Although one could hardly find a more inexpensive avocation (Hutchins only has to pay for stamps), collecting credit cards, can be dangerous and somewhat annoying at times. If a credit card is stolen, Hutchins is liable for the first $50 of a purchase by the thief. He, therefore, keeps his collection locked in a safe deposit box.

And then there's those bothersome monthly sale mailings and those voluminous Christmas catalogs. "I got 500 of those darn catalogs last Christmas," he said.

Asked what he will do after he collects 1,000 cards, Hutchins replied, "I'll shoot for 10,000; it's a permanent hobby with me. Now all I have to do is start typing those 100 or so applications I have sitting at home."

That may also go for Cavanaugh, if he values his title.

then became a coach and later vice principal at Terra Nova High in Pacifica, before becoming the first principal of Thornton High, the district's special education facility.

"Anyone who is in public education today faces challenges," Gonella said. "There's challenges in the problems of financing, possibility of student enrollment declining in the next few years, the housing of students in special facilities to enrich the program, and cooperative programs with the cities."

The high school student, Gonella said, is with the district only four years. If the district waits to take action and make plans, it's too late and the student is gone.

"We can't use finances as an excuse," he said. "We've got to keep up with the kids."

THE 1950s, he said, were a period of population explosion. In the 1960s, districts were dealing with financial problems and personnel issues such as teachers' rights.

"I look at the 1970s as a time of creativity in improving curriculum development, planning and guidance," he said.

He said he hopes to shift the whole emphasis in district education from financial structure to curriculum.

"We have to face reality. There's just not enough money to keep up with the times. We're going backward in finances. Our budget balances and that's about all."

He agrees with Morgan in that the district commitment to keep teachers will deteriorate unless alternative funding sources are located.

"Everyone has a job for next year. But finances may create difficulty in years to come," he said.

"In addition to maintaining existing programs, Gonella hopes to implement an alternative school program in conjunction with the county mental health program for children who qualify for special home teaching programs."

Accident Claims Popular Youth

By RICK SULLIVAN

Last Wednesday, 14-year-old Dean Xerogeanes, student body president at Parkside School in San Bruno, graduated with honors.

Saturday, he died.

The popular San Bruno youth was the victim of an automobile accident on Highway 101 near Corte Madera in Marin County. The boy, according to his father Gus, apparently was thrown from the family camper in a collision. His body was found off the highway, 30 feet down a ravine.

More than 500 friends and relatives mourned the death of the boy at a Greek "trisigdon" held Monday evening at the Nauman and Lincoln Mortuary in South San Francisco.

His father, principal of El Crystal School in the San Bruno Park School District, Monday night recalled events leading to his son's death.

"Saturday, we had decided that the family would drive to Santa Rosa to visit the kids' grandparents for Father's Day. I drove with my wife (Josephine) and son Jimmy (16 years old) in the front seat, while Dean and his brother Johnny (10 years old) sat in the back of the camper."

Xerogeanes said the family was traveling north on 101 near Corte Madera in the second inside lane when an accident occurred involving a pick-up truck and a motor home.

"I spun out and hit the side of the center railing sideways so the back door of the camper flew open, and my son flew out of the camper," Xerogeanes said.

"My car ended up tipped over on its side straddling the first lane and the soft shoulder. It's lucky there was no car going up fast behind me."

"I turned off the ignition and unfastened my seat belt, then looked at my wife and son (in the front seat) and saw they were full of blood. I soon discovered that they were not hurt, but were covered with my blood. I was cut on the forehead."

"I helped unfasten my wife's and son's seat belts, then each of us crawled out of the car. There were people everywhere helping us."

"Then after two or three minutes, my wife noticed Dean was missing."

Gus said his wife and two sons scanned the immediate area, until Jimmy spotted his brother laying about 30 feet down a steep ravine.

"I went down (the ravine)," said Gus, "and took a (candy) jaw breaker out of Dean's mouth, and tried mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. I listened for a heart beat. It was faint. Dean was unconscious."

A doctor stopped and came down to help me. Two minutes later Dean was dead."

Board Sees 1st Budget

A preliminary 1975-76 budget was presented to the San Bruno Park School District Board of Trustees Monday night, reflecting the reduction and elimination of district programs, brought by the defeat of the recent tax election.

District Business Manager Sherrill Houghton detailed the $6,057,506 budget, which has been slimmed down considerably since it was first presented before the tax election May 27.

The present budget, which will not be up for final adoption until Aug. 1, shows decreases in several budget entries, including a $3,231 decrease in certificated salaries accomplished by attrition, a $81,705 decrease in classified salaries also because of attrition; $10,388 in books, supplies and equipment replacement; $21,045 in contract services and other operating expenses.

Union employees in the San Mateo Community College District have requested a 22 per cent cost-of-living salary increase in 1975-76.

Their wage and fringe benefit package was formally presented to the district's board of trustees Wednesday at the College of San Mateo.

The employee group is represented by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, Local 377.

The proposal also included a cost-of-living escalator clause to be implemented quarterly.

There are a wide range of other provisions as well. Some of those include: an improved vacation plan, the addition of orthodontia to the employees' health plan, a long-term disability plan, an increase in the uniform allowance and increases in shift differentials.

The employees involved are custodians, groundskeepers, kitchen workers and others.

The trustees will respond to the package at a later date.

In another matter, the board also considered its 1975-76 budget. That document totals $28.5 million, of which more than 14 per cent is found in the beginning balance and a variety of reserves.

Jeff Eyes Resource Teachers

Resource teachers may be added to the Jefferson Elementary School District staff — but not until the trustees know precisely what it will cost.

That message developed Wednesday night a special meeting of the JESD Board of Trustees at which several reports and programs were discussed.

Trustees heard a report by Dr. Jerry Houseman, assistant superintendent for educational services, which if approved will allow each school to hire a learning center resource teacher.

However, instead of approving the pilot project, the trustees said the plan should be investigated further and its effect on the district budget determined.

The proposal describes the duties of a resource teacher as organizing and supervising a learning center, an instructional materials center and serving as a liaison to the school resource center, the district and community resources.

"This would be a teacher with duties other than those assigned to one classroom."

The board is worried that increases in the district's full-time enrollment will continue to be a bigger burden for the local taxpayer since state support drops as such enrollment rises in an affluent district like this one. The board has been considering lowering the district's tax rate by perhaps 2 cents. That would save about

Supt. Herbert Hemington. "Specifics would be developed with staff and principal working together."

Houseman said if the district implements the proposal, it will be on a pilot basis, with periodic progress reports to the board.

He said several principals and administrators observed the same kind of program at Oak Grove School District in San Jose. The major problem they found was a lack of uniformity between the school, Houseman said, adding that uniformity is included in the JESD proposal.

The proposal stipulates that each resource teacher must have a minimum of three years classroom experience and demonstrated ability to work with staff, parents and children.

Each teacher would work the regular teaching year, plus one week before and one week after school on the teachers' salary schedule. Hemington said a good possibility for use of a resource teacher exists at the three upper grade schools where allocations for $480,000. However it would also force the district to reduce community services programs, increase those community services fees and severely crimp the district's ability to pay employees a meaningful cost-of-living wage hike.

For some time, there has been an effort made to scrutinize community services programs.

The board has been levying a 2½ cent community services tax. It could levy as much as 5 cents. Each year at this time, there is talk of dropping that tax even further.

A leading advocate of such a move is Trustee James Tormey. He said Wednesday that, "We are not here to be an avocational outlet for the upper middle class."

He was referring to the fact that many community services programs involve enrichment courses in rather esoteric fields of interest.

The board will dig into community services again as it continues to deal with the budget.

librarians can be used. However, it would be up to the individual school to determine how the position would be funded.

"We would have to utilize the sources we have now," Hemington said.

Houseman said volunteer parents peer-tutoring and tutoring by high school students are utilized at Oak Grove to supplement the resource teacher at no cost.

Trustees and some teachers in the audience asked about a potential conflict between librarians and resource teachers.

However, Houseman said that in some schools the possitions can be the same, and Hemington said the library can be made the resource center.

ment, no resource center will function."

In other action, the board:

- Received a needs assessment report by Jim Orsburn, state department of education, for all schools. Orsburn particularly pointed out the problem of restroom facilities at schools. "Let's find a way to make these things liveable for the children," he said.

- Approved changes in the Still Bill process for evaluating teachers.

- Postponed appointment of a coordinator of the bilingual program until the administration furnishes more details.

Peace Officer Status Sought

San Francisco Airport police should and shall have "peace officer" status if Airports Commission President William McDonnell has anything to do about it.

McDonnell says as much in a five-page letter to San Mateo County Sheriff John R. McDonald, dated Friday.

Commissioner McDonnell's letter is a statement of San Francisco's intent to continue seeking legislative approval of peace officer rank for its airport police, and an explanation of the reasons that action is being taken despite San Mateo County opposition.

"We do not dispute your primary jurisdiction over law enforcement in San Mateo County," wrote McDonnell. "All we are asking, however, is that we be granted the same peace officer status for our airport police that exists in every other major airport in this country."

In offering to take over all law enforcement and security functions at the airport, it is obvious that neither you nor the Board of Supervisors of San Mateo County have a clear comprehension of the security requirements of the FAA regulations (FAR 107.4) or of the legal responsibilities involved in meeting these regulations."

The Federal Aviation Administration, writes McDonnell, "issues regulations with the weight of law concerning all operations" at the airport.

These regulations impose the entire responsibility of security and safety of operation directly on the San Francisco Airport."

Commissioner McDonnell writes that "I am certain we both regret that no solution or even a mutual basis of understanding of the Airport's problems" was reached at a June 5 meeting, held in response to a request of the state Senate Judiciary Committee.

He suggests that the sheriff's proposal to provide law enforcement, on a contract basis, is unfair and unworkable.

The commissioner suggests that for the airport to pay for law enforcement officers, as the Sheriff had suggested, is "unfair and unjust" because "the airport and its tenants currently are paying in excess of $14 million per year in taxes to San Mateo County."

His letter claims that "except for two deputies per shift you have assigned to the airport, this facility receives no other service from San Mateo County despite this very substantial payment in taxes."

Commissioner McDonnell suggests he and the City of San Francisco will continue to seek passage of State Senate Bill 695, which would grant peace officer status to airport officers.

While that bill is pending, he suggests the sheriff provide full deputation of our airport police while on airport property."

Passage of that bill, he writes, "will not detract from your powers and authority in the county as you will continue to have the prime responsibility for the investigation of crimes and the apprehension of criminals on airport property."

Couple Slates Wedding

Plans for a wedding on Aug. 16 have been made by Virginia Patania of Pacifica and Ronald Mendez of San Bruno.

The future bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Patania; her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mendez. Both families live in Pacifica.

The Rev. Patrick Keene will conduct the couple's wedding at 2 p.m. at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Pacifica. A reception will follow at the Bach Dancing and Dynamite Society in El Granada.

Ronald asked Joseph Ranalli to be his best man. Ushering duties will be shared by James and Michael Patania, brothers of the future bride. Andrew Mendez, a brother of the future bridegroom, and Louis Sanchez, David Johnson and James Gonzalez, all of Pacifica.

DA: Assessment Rollback Illegal

There is no way the county can legally freeze residential property assessments or roll them back to last year's level, Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson told the Board of Supervisors Tuesday.

Supervisor John M. Ward inquired of Sorenson concerning the pleas of taxpayer groups and some city councils that assessments be rolled back to the 1974-75 level.

The county has "absolutely no authority to accomplish that request," Sorenson informed the board. "It would be a violation of the (state) Constitution."

His comment came as Sorenson submitted a written report to the board which had inquired recently regarding the legal extent to which the board has any monitoring, supervisory or directorial authority over the county assessor in the manner of the operation of his office.

The report states that the board has the obligation of supervising and determining whether the assessor is meeting his legal obligations, but only the assessor or the County Assessment Appeals Board can actually make a specific assessment.

"To the extent that the board might find that the assessor was not complying with the law and the assessor refused to change his conduct, the board could file a petition for a writ of mandate to compel the assessor to perform his legal duties," the report says.

Other points contained in the report:

- The board and the assessor can form an appraisal commission if an appraisal of all or any class of property in the county is required to maintain the equality of assessments.

The commission would consist of the chairman of the board, the assessor and the member of the state Board of Equalization from the particular area.

unassessed through the willful failure or neglect of the assessor.

- The board has control over the assessor's budget and staffing under provisions of the county charter. To the extent that the board arbitrarily failed to provide sufficient staff for the assessor to meet his legal duties, legal action might well be available to force the board to provide the assessor with such personnel.

CIA Was Busy In SM County

Institutions in San Mateo County were among many used by the Central Intelligence Agency across the nation.

According to a report issued by the Rockefeller Commission, this county was a target of clandestine CIA activities on more than one level.

The report revealed that the CIA financed a 1966 study testing the validity of lie detection examinations involving the San Mateo County Sheriff's Department.

In addition to that, the report also stated that the CIA operated a mail-opening program at San Mateo's main post office in 1970 and 1971.

The CIA's involvement in the lie detection study came as a surprise to local authorities today.

Former Sheriff Earl Whitmore and polygraph examiner Detective Verne Baldridge said the study was requested by Stanford Research Institute of Menlo Park.

"As far as CIA, I never heard it," Whitmore said. He retired in 1973 after 23 years as sheriff.

Baldridge was paid $10 per hour to conduct the tests on persons sent to him by SRI, Asst. Sheriff Eugene E. Stewart said. Baldridge worked on the polygraphs on his own time, he added.

The Rockefeller commission report described the lie detection study like this:

"In 1966, the CIA contracted with a private company to undertake an extensive study on the use of polygraph machines as a tool in personnel investigations. The purpose of the study was to determine what kind of individual could 'beat' the polygraph."

"During the period of the study, the CIA's contractor drew from the resources of the San Mateo County sheriff's office to find subjects for the study. Various inmates of the San Mateo County jail were used in connection with the study."

Both Stewart and Baldridge denied that jail inmates were used. Stewart said the SRI provided the subjects to Baldridge for several weeks during 1966.

Both Stewart and Whitmore said it was not unusual for governmental agencies to trade information.

Stewart said, at the time, this sheriff's department was one of the few governmental agencies with its own polygraph examiners, and had pioneered lie detection techniques in Northern California.

The county had used the sometimes controversial equipment as part of background checks for personnel, such as airport policemen to be deputized for duty at San Francisco International Airport.

The thrust of the 1966 study, Stewart recalled, was to test the validity of the polygraph and its findings.

The CIA was also busy in this county in another significant way in 1970 and 1971.

According to the report, the CIA operated a secret mail program in a San Mateo post office in those years.

Each of three programs lasted about three weeks, the report said.

The report said the procedure worked this way:

"Late in the evening, CIA personnel went to the postal facility where a special officer met them and opened the relevant bags of mail. The postal official remained present while the CIA representatives performed tests on the outside of the envelopes."

"During virtually every session, the CIA officers, apparently without the knowledge of the postal officials, concealed selected pieces of mail in an equipment case or a handbag."

"The selected items were then taken surreptitiously from the post office facility, opened, photographed, analyzed, resealed and returned to the mail flow during the next visit to the facility."

"Such letters, the report said, were usually bound for Asian Communist countries."

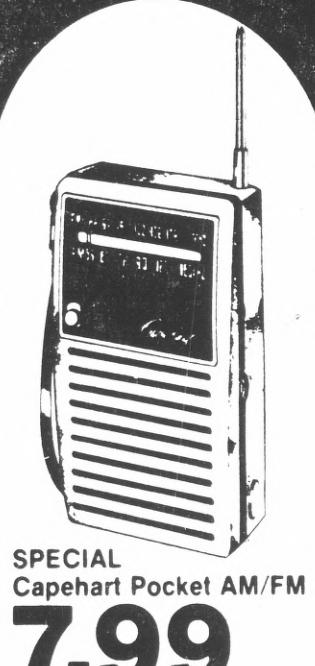

San Mateo Postmaster James Kehoe of Hillsborough said this morning, "I have no knowledge of any of this. This is all very interesting. But why would San Mateo be involved with Asian mail? This is not the final routing stop for that mail. The San Francisco Airport office is."

"I am not aware that the CIA came here. The General Accounting Office was here. They are the watchdog for Congress. But they didn't ask for specific mail."

"We do work closely with any legitimate law enforcement agency, like the FBI. They were here working on the Patty Hearst case. But I don't recall the CIA being here. I know I wasn't personally involved if they were."

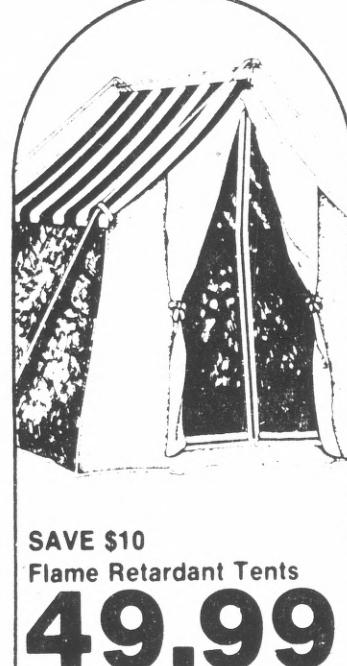

"I'm going to have to talk to my assistants. And I'd have to see the exact dates when the CIA was supposed to have been here. I don't remember anything like this."

Slimming Fowl

Good morning, good cooks.

If there were such a thing as a "miracle diet" chicken ought to go right at the top of the menu. Calorie charts of meat we commonly eat show chicken has fewest calories. A three-ounce portion of skinned broiled chicken breast has a dainty 115 calories. And if you spice it appetizingly the bits and pinches of aromatics won't add even a whole calorie per portion.

You can eat imaginatively seasoned chicken frequently without its getting monotonous for there are unlimited spices, herbs, seasoning vegetables and combinations of these which will permit a tempting parade of this thrifty fowl.

Chicken ratatouille is a delicious example of how well you can eat and still pare away pounds. For this dish, chicken is cooked with tomatoes, eggplant, zucchini and mushrooms and seasoned temptingly with bay leaf, onion and garlic powders and a bit of oregano.

CHICKEN RATAOUILLE
2½ to 3 pounds chicken, cut up
1 teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoon black pepper
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes, broken up
1 small eggplant, cut into 1-inch cubes
2 small zucchini, cut into 3x1-inch fingers
½ pound fresh mushrooms, halved
1 bay leaf
1 teaspoon onion powder
½ teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon oregano leaves, crumbled.

Sprinkle the chicken parts with the one teaspoon salt and fourth teaspoon pepper. Place chicken, skin side up, on a rack in a shallow roasting pan. Bake in preheated, very hot oven (450-degrees) until browned, about 20 minutes. Remove chicken and the rack; pour off any fat from pan.

Reduce temperature to moderate (350-degrees). In roasting pan combine the one pound can tomatoes, cubed eggplant, two sliced zucchini, half pound mushrooms, one bay leaf, one teaspoon onion powder, one-half teaspoon garlic powder and one teaspoon crushed oregano. Place chicken pieces over top of the vegetable mixture; spoon some of the sauce over the chicken. Cover and bake in moderate oven for 30 minutes. Uncover and bake until chicken is fork-tender, 15 to 20 minutes. Serves four generously.

Some people seem to radiate enthusiasm and the projects they are involved with seem to thrive on their special brand of zeal and energy. Mrs. Carol Benkie is one of those people and right now she is devoting a considerable amount of her energy to the organization of a daytime class in Parent-Child Communications.

The classes which will be offered in two-hour segments, once each week for a period of six weeks, are being sponsored by the Center for Better Living (Mental Health Center of Daly City), in cooperation with the Mental Health Association of San Mateo County. Parents who are seeking to develop skills which can be used to "listen" to their children and help their child listen to adults, are being urged by Mrs. Benkie to enroll in this stimulating and practical exploration of intra-family communications.

Charge for the series will be $4 per person but scholarships, which will reduce the registration fee to $1, are available to North County residents.

Each class will be limited to 15 persons. Sessions will begin at 9:30 a.m. and last until 11:30 a.m. Dates for the course will be discussed when you call for further details or to pre-register. Mrs. Benkie may be reached by calling 756-5091. If you are interested in finding out about the Spanish language course in Parent-Child Communication call the Guadalupe Health Center, 755-7740.

CONFUSION, promiscuity, a touch of fraud and a watery potato chip dip combine to form the basis for a delightful spoof about modern living on the executive level, according to Mrs. Berneice Olson, the publicity chairman for the Pacifica Spindrift Players.

"Any Wednesday," the title of the confect(i)on with the unlikely ingredients, is due to start a three-weekend run in the Oddstad Center in Pacifica on June 27.

Tickets for the play will be sold at the door, prior to curtain time, on Friday, June 28, and Saturday, June 29. Friday, July 4, and Saturday, July 5, and again on Friday and Saturday, July 11 and 12.

For additional information call Miss Olson, 355-4638.

MRS. TROY DANIELS, recently elected president of the North San Mateo County League of Women Voters reports that she has been able to arrange for Mrs. Sarah Benard to conduct a special training session for new board members.

Mrs. Daniels, who was elected to the presidency of the League the latter part of last month, plans to conduct the session on June 28, as an aide in helping new board members feel comfortable with their duties and responsibilities and to provide practical information about resource people, materials and projects.

Serving with Mrs. Daniels during the coming months are Mrs. Marilyn Wills, vice president; Mrs. Mary Jo Juster, secretary; Mrs. Jean Matsura, Mrs. Pat Avanessian and Mrs. Marjorie Bowers, Mrs. Judy Johnson, Mrs. Cleo Borlund and Mrs. Marian Daughtry, directors; Mrs. Susan Sweeney, second vice president, and Mrs. Betty Fleming, the treasurer.

THE SPRING BOOK FAIR, sponsored by the Friends of the Daly City Library, is over but the tying up of loose ends continues with some constructive and innovative planning being done to make the 1976 fair more efficiently coordinated, according to Mrs. Virginia Tierney, the group's publicity chairman and the assistant chairman of the book fair.

According to Mrs. Tierney, the general chairman, Mrs. Denise Schwarzbach, meet with several members of the fair committee to resort books from the May sale, to price more recent contributions and to hold a special organizational development meeting. Coming out of the meeting was a new plan for procedures at future fairs and news of the creation of a new committee, the transportation committee, which will be headed by Ray Schnapp. Mrs. Tierney explained Schnapp primarily will be concerned with transporting of books to fairs.

With an eye toward the future, Mrs. Tierney voiced an appeal for lots of "how to" books to be donated now and held until the next fair. If you are cleaning bookshelves and you have books on stitching, art, music, mechanics, sewing, cooking or decorating, please bundle them up and deposit them in the special containers located in each of Daly City's branch libraries.

JULY 7 will be the opening day for the Excelsior Co-operative Pre-school located in St. Barnabas' Episcopal Church on Vienna Street in San Francisco.

The school, long established on a site straddling the Daly City-San Francisco border, has been moved into the Excelsior District and will begin serving families from this area, who knew the school as the Lake Merced Play School, and families in the blocks surrounding 459 Vienna St.

For information about the July 7 to Aug. 1 summer program, contact Mrs. Mary Squire, 587-8267, or Mrs. Cathy Cashman, 584-4740.

MRS. TONI MICHELS, the chairman of coupon collection for the Mary's Help Hospital Guild's Scholarship Fund is issuing an appeal to localites to do a bit of special coupon collecting.

For a limited time only the fund will be able to realize moneys from the return of special bonus gift coupons which are being printed on some brand labels.

According to Mrs. Michels, collectors should save all labels from Pillsbury Danish Rolls, Swift Hostess Ham or the Circle Ham, Swifts Corned Beef Brisket for oven roasting or from Grandma's Barbecue Sauce. The front panels should be cut from Sara Lee Crum cakes — French or blueberry, or from Pillsbury Turnover Pies.

In addition, all "Bonus Gift" coupons will be redeemable by the guild so save, save and save some more for this excellent scholarship program.

Contributions of coupons or labels may be left in the gift shop in the lobby of Mary's Help Hospital.

DONATION

The annual baccalaureate mass and graduation breakfast for the 1975 Jefferson High School graduating class was held at Holy Angels Church and hosted by the Italian Catholic Federation (ICF) June 12. Julia Padreddi presented a donation to the John Morgan scholarship fund on behalf of the ICF to class president Maria Bologna. Also attending the presentation were (back, from left) Albert Teglia, Jefferson Union High School District trustee, and Dr. Robert Bush, Jefferson High School principal.

The Kinneys' Creative Homes

After years of living in a New York apartment "where we changed nothing more basic than a light bulb," Jean and Cle Kinney purchased a fifty acre farm in Connecticut and transformed it into a self supporting compound that featured a summer home, a bath house, cooled walks and a long view of the valley.

As they shored up the foundations of their century old house and strung pipes and wires to modernize it, they thought of the "suffering thousands in New York flats and with them in mind remade their sagging barn into rental quarters with glass doors and spacious windows that overlooked a lake.

From such an experience came an obsession for old buildings and from the obsession came a book entitled "47 Creative Homes That Started As Bargain Buildings." Here one finds old barns, silos, railroad stations, school houses, green houses and what have you that have been made into homes for human beings.

The Kinneys roamed through the South and found slave quarters from pre-Civil war times that had been remodeled into plush homes for descendants of the old time masters. In Iowa they visited the artist, Grant Wood, who had purchased the burned out tower of a wealthy quarry master and turned it into an art colony. In Georgia they discovered a railroad station that had been made into an elegant entertainment complex with private rooms in railroad cars that still sit on the tracks that brought them there a hundred years ago.

The Kinneys learned of an enterprise in Colorado that sent them flying to the Rockies. There they visited Leslie Holtz in a house that he had made from an abandoned mine. Holtz told them that in its day the mine had produced $100 million in gold, but now the tipple was a spacious building that afforded each person in his family with his own suite. In Florida the Kinney's visited Ed and Mary Bratburd who live in a house that is both romantic and practical — romantic because it was once a carriage house that served the people who owned the grandest mansions of Florida; practical because in its restored condition it made a more livable home than any of the mansions.

"47 Creative Homes That Started As Bargain Buildings" holds out a hope to anyone with imagination and an old building. In this increasingly standardized world one can resist living in a home that is like every other. To your house, or your old building the Kinney's say you can bring new ideas that will make your life more exciting.

New Pacifica C of C Manager

Pacifica merchants reached down to Atwater to come up with an experienced businessman as the coastal city's new manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Jim Gallagher, 51, began duties as manager last week, replacing Paul Sutterley, who had held that post about a year. Prior to that, the manager was Tom Sawyer.

Gallagher, for the past 2 1/2 years headed the Atwater chamber after spending better than two decades in the dry cleaning business in Merced. During those years he was active at one time or another on every committee of the Merced Chamber of Commerce, including being a past president.

"I'm now getting paid for what I was doing free," said Gallagher with an infectious grin. He's moved into an apartment in the Fairmont section with his wife, Marge. They have three grown children.

Although this is only his second paid chamber management position, Gallagher's past experiences in chamber work set him in a special league few other chamber managers can boast.

He was presented a special award by the Merced chamber for 15 years of "devoted service" in 1972. He's listed in the 1967 Outstanding Civic Leaders of America, and has completed an institute for organization management program. Gallagher is a Marine veteran of World War II.

As to chamber operation, he said his philosophy is that a manager's job, plain and simple, is to carry out the mandates of the board of directors. He intends to attend most all public meetings and will "try hard to make this a chamber that's representative of the business community."

Southgate Theatre Group to Perform

The Southgate Theater Company will open its second performing season in the North County with William Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Moving to Pacifica after a successful summer last year performing in Daly City, the young theater group has slated four performances at the Sharp Park Public Library: Saturday, July 5, at 5 p.m. and at 8:30 p.m.; and Sunday, July 6, at 2 p.m. and 5 p.m.

Southgate Theater Company is a troupe of local actors and actresses who organized for the first time last summer to bring North County residents more exposure to quality live community theater. The founder and General Director of the group is Gordon Farrell, now a Pacifica resident, although originally from Colma. Last summer, Farrell directed the Company's highly successful production of "The Importance of Being Earnest," and this year is directing the current production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

This light Shakespearean comedy is certainly one of the most popular of the bard's plays. The events of the play transpire over a period of 24 hours, and deal with the mad-cap consequences of starry-eyed lovers crossing paths with Robin Goodfellow, better known as Puck, mischievous jester of Oberon, King of the Fairies. Originally set in ancient Greece, director Farrell has moved his production forward in time to the period of the European Renaissance. Farrell has also elected to modernize the more obscure Shakespearean idiom in many places throughout the script, in order to enhance appreciation of the play by American audiences.

Appearing in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will be the following local residents: Daly City: Jeff Wilbur as the mischievous Puck, Jim Swanson as Oberon, and Sandy Lono.

Pacifica: Lynda West as Titania, Queen of the Fairies; Donna Wells and Verona DeWitt in leading roles, along with Richard Talavera and Pauline Pfandler; Gail Kudrovzoff, and Kathi Holmes, and Carol West, and Linda Weller.

San Bruno: Kaycarol Dias and San Carlos: Bob Fox.

After "A Midsummer Night's Dream," the Southgate Theater Company will go into rehearsal for Tennessee Williams' "The Glass Menagerie."

A donation of $1 for children and $2 for adults will be required at all performances. The Sharp Park Public Library, where the group is performing, is located at the corner of Hilton and Palmetto in Pacifica. For further information call 359-3871.

IT'S YOUR MONEY Center Program

The Community Centers program, sponsored by the Pacifica Parks, Beaches and Recreation Dept. will kick off the first week of summer with "Getting to Know You," with a trip to Memorial Park for boys and girls from 8 to 13 years of age.

The trip will be held June 26, from 10 to 5 p.m.

The trip is limited to 18 from each Community Center.

Included in the Memorial Park play day will be games, contests and swimming.

Deadline for signing up will be 5 p.m., June 24, with the Community Center recreation leaders.

Cost of the trip will be $2.

PLANNING A CELEBRATION

The Scout America '76 planning committee will meet throughout the summer to implement plans for the April 1976 Bicentennial Celebration of Girl Scouting in the Serramonte Shopping Center Mall. Committee members are (from left) Helen Edwards of San Francisco, Alvin Schwarzbach of Daly City, Joan Stewart of Daly City, and Marge McCoy of Pacifica. The event has been recognized by the San Mateo County Bicentennial Committee. (Story, Page 6).

Area Music Group Holds Dinner Meet

The Hillsborough home of Elwood Hansen will be the setting June 29 for the annual dinner-business meeting of the Performers and Composers Guild of the San Mateo County Chamber Music Society.

Preceding the barbecue buffet supper, members and guests of the guild will be treated to a demonstration by the host of his antique collection of mechanical musical instruments.

A recent telecast on "Opus 14" of KCSM, Channel 14, featured Hansen and some of these same instruments.

The business meeting will occur after the supper at which time officers for the 1975-1976 year will be elected.

Chairpersons will present their annual reports including workshops, Joseph McCauley; Young Chamber Music Performers Competition, Louise Segel; chamber musicians directory, Ronald Panton.

In addition, the society's executive and musical director, Helen Beyer, will give a brief resume of the concerts, lectures, radio and television programs sponsored by the society during the 1974-75 season.

46 Units Approved In Pacifica

Pacifica planning commissioners Monday night certified an Environmental Impact Report (EIR) and approved 46 two-bedroom townhouse units for the northside of Fassler Avenue across from Crespi Elementary School.

Commissioner Fred Howard cast the only dissenting vote. He said he was concerned the project would create further traffic problems on an already traffic congested Fassler Avenue.

One of the conditions placed on the reclassification from garden apartment to planned development was that there would be a further investigation into the possibility of widening Fassler to accommodate left-turn channelization into the proposed project. It had been recommended by staff that this be done at the expense of the developer, Kay Building Co.

The project is a new submittal on a 7.49 acre parcel for which the applicant has submitted two previous projects, one of 136 units, which was withdrawn, and one of 102 units, which was denied. The project was proposed as an eight-building cluster.

Commissioners who had certified the original EIR draft for the 136-unit complex April 1, 1974, also voted for open parking stalls in lieu of a police department recommendation for enclosed garages.

In another concern, commissioners indicated to architect David Colloff a desire that further development plans take into consideration some form of recreational amenity in the project. Commissioner Ken Grubman was particularly strong in urging it.

Bicultural Programs Win EOC Backing

Some 150 members of the Latin community from Daly City to East Palo Alto marched on a meeting of the county's Economic Opportunity Commission Thursday night and won their demand for a bilingual, bicultural program.

Although the commission lacked a quorum, members of the executive committee agreed to submit an application to the regional office of the Equal Opportunity Office for a $105,000 grant to set up the program.

The meeting was conducted in Spanish and English, and was frequently punctuated with shouts of "bravo" and bursts of applause.

DC Man Accused Of Fraud

Vernon LeYoung Ardfiff of Daly City was arrested at his residence Monday for allegedly filing 834 renter's refund claims under fictitious names and obtaining some $15,000 illegally from the state. Insp. Jack F. Stuart of the district attorney's office reported.

According to Stuart, Ardfiff's arrest came as a result of a lengthy investigation by Special Agents Gary Hintz and Robert Jenkins of the California Franchise Tax Board. Insp. Don Ferrero of the district attorney's office, and himself.

Ardiff, a 61-year-old unemployed freight claims adjustor, was taken into custody at his apartment, 300 Park Plaza Drive. Stuart said Ardfiff filed 834 income tax returns under fictitious names and Social Security numbers. On his returns he claimed a renter's credit of $25, according to Stuart.

Ardiff's downfall began because he used only two addresses — his own and a post office box. A computer in Sacramento located the fraudulent claims, Atty. Keith C. Sorenson said.

Prior to his arrest, Stuart reported, Ardfiff said his only sources of income were state unemployment benefits and a small VA pension.

Additionally for the past 20 years, Ardfiff allegedly submitted fictitious income tax returns to both the federal and state governments claiming a non-existent wife, Carmen, as a dependent.

During a search of his apartment, investigators found records indicating Ardfiff had at least three bank accounts, Stuart said. He reported other records indicated Ardfiff had disposed of the funds by paying off an insurance policy loan, paying off department store accounts, and purchasing several thousand dollars worth of expensive jewelry, some of which had not yet been picked up from the jeweler. Stuart said that several expensive rings and $500 in cash were recovered in the search.

The Latinos came marching down several blocks bearing signs such as "We Need the EOC Behind Us Not Before Us" and "We Need the EOC Now. Support Us Now."

The crowd spilled over from the Supervisors Chambers into the Hall of Justice lobby outside and filled the main aisle.

While the meeting was conducted in an atmosphere of Latin enthusiasm, it ended on a note of bitterness.

A black woman stepped to the podium and declared, "We want our part, too."

"How long do you think we have been here?" a woman in the audience retorted.

"How long do you think we have been here?" a black man shouted.

"We don't want racial divisions," Mrs. Helen S. Kerwin, commission chairman, asserted.

Among those speaking were Raul Baca, representative of the League of United Latin-American Citizens, and Mrs. Gloria Rodriguez of the Mexican-American Unity Council. Julius Castelan, a former commission member, pinned down the issue when he declared, "A sleeping giant is beginning to arise."

"We feel we have the right to control our own destiny," Louis Robinson Garcia asserted. "We have real and special problems."

There are real barriers involved."

He asked commissioners to mentally put themselves in Mexico.

"Imagine trying to fill out an application for a Mexican driver's license or income tax form. Imagine trying to get a divorce in Guatemala or Venezuela. The problems in this community are just as deep."

Mrs. Olga Jensen, a community worker with the Department of Health and Welfare, charged the county is laying off Chicano community workers and seven blacks in East Palo Alto.

It was brought out in a prepared statement that 11.3 per cent of the county's population have Spanish surnames.

Letters were received from the Club Mexicano-Latino and the Unity Council asking for representation on the committee.

"This is just another milestone to get the Latin community in the mainstream," said Larry Smith, executive director of the South San Francisco-Brisbane Information Center. "There are employment, housing and education problems as well."

A delegation of mothers appeared to complain about the county's Head Start program. One criticized the director and said mothers are concerned about their children getting a proper education.

Police Help Asked Merchants Rap Teen Arcade

Westborough Square Shopping Center merchants are complaining that a spacious former movie theater, now called the Arcade, is a haven for juveniles considered by the merchants to be a threat to business.

Inside the Arcade, once the Jerry Alto Cinema, a tall young lad stands back from the pool table, cue in hand, studying his next shot. All around are game machines of one type or another.

A young girl sits atop a stool in front of a blaring juke box. Others, of varying sizes and ages, mingle, exchanging talk and sharing puffs of cigarettes.

The youngsters, say the merchants, congregate at the Arcade, but roam throughout the center, harassing merchants, customers and engaging in excessive shoplifting, particularly in the center's Safeway and Walgreen stores.

It was brought in against

Dotty Moorehouse, president of the Westborough Square Merchants Association, and several other merchants have set a luncheon meeting with Police Chief Jim Datzman for early next week to discuss the situation.

Mrs. Moorehouse is adamantly against the Arcade, saying merchants opposed the facility when it first went into business this past January.

She claimed that since the Arcade opened, "it has brought in the undesirables. Some kids don't live in the area, but that's a place to hang out, and that's why we have so much shoplifting."

Oyster Point EIR Approved

South San Francisco Planning Commissioners Tuesday night certified the Environmental Impact Report (EIR) for the proposed $6.8 million expansion of the Oyster Point Marina.

The vote was 6-1, with Commissioner J. O. Mathewson Jr. abstaining. "I still suspect the EIR has holes in it," he said at one point.

Attending the meeting was a roomful of boat owners, many decked out in bright red identification jackets, others in not so conspicuous blazers.

Speaking, he said, as a citizen and taxpayer, was F. J. Prendergast, who is also a park and recreation commissioner.

"We are considered a small boat harbor, a specter of middle class. We are not millionaires yacht owners," said Prendergast in rebuttal to statements at earlier meetings that the project would benefit mostly the boat owners, the majority of whom are out-of-towners.

Prendergast said boat owners, regardless of where they live, are paying taxes into the South San Francisco community. He said he knows of a Pacifica boat owner who paid $191.71 in taxes to South San Francisco.

The only voice in opposition came from Douglas Butler.

"We need to think in terms of priorities," said Butler. "Boat owners should be served, but I wonder if 61 people (the number of boat owners) out of approximately 300 using the existing facility) justifies this expense."

Butler cited the proposed Colma Creek Enhancement project, primarily a landscaping and beautification of the banks of Colma Creek through the city, as an alternative beneficial to more people than the Oyster Point project.

He also criticized the EIR as being too technical. "I found much of it unintelligible," said Butler. "From this standpoint it's not satisfactory."

Dick Milkovich, director of parks and recreation, said the EIR had been reviewed by 41 different state and local agencies, and "in the whole, the project will benefit the total city," he said.

Papan Case Officer Cited

The California Highway Patrol captain who cancelled a speeding ticket for Assemblyman Louis J. Papan of Daly City has been given an official reprimand for his action.

Highway Patrol Commissioner Glen Craig said Tuesday the Vallejo CHP captain responsible was given the reprimand because of what he called "an error in judgment."

The captain is charged with voiding a traffic ticket issued to Papan after the assemblyman was stopped near Vallejo for driving 95 miles per hour.

Papan said he did not feel the clocking methods used in his case were correct and that the procedure be checked out.

Instead of checking out the clocking procedure, the ticket was voided, Papan explained earlier.

The citation was re-issued May 19 and Papan paid a $65 fine.

Supervisors Dump Vote on Chope

By BOB HEMINGWAY

A recommendation by County Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr. that the Board of Supervisors abandon the concept of decentralized health care and place the matter of financing renovation of Chope Community Hospital before the electorate was defeated by a 3 to 2 vote of the board last Tuesday.

Only Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald joined in support of Bacciocco's proposal.

wood City, where the outpatient clinic will be located, concerning the project.

"To change the position of the board is the wrong thing to do," Ward stated.

The only way to find if it (decentralized health care) is effective is to try it, the supervisor said.

Fitzgerald said he favored suspending the decentralized program for one year and keeping Chope functioning as it has been until it can be determined what the federal

The board subsequently reiterated its decision to proceed with the Decentralized Health Care Demonstration Project in south San Mateo County, with an evaluation to be made at the end of one year (the project is scheduled to begin in August), possibly 18 months if the evaluation results are inconclusive, before deciding whether to proceed with a decentralized health care system throughout the county and whether to close Chope Hospital.

It also was decided that there will be a cessation of any further public discussion of the Chope matter by the board.

Supervisor John M. Ward, who said he would have opposed the demonstration project if he had been on the board last June when the decision was made, commented today that "A change at this time is not a realistic way to go."

There are, he said, "rising expectations" in East Redwood government is going to do in the way of national health insurance.

It could "change the whole program," he asserted.

Fitzgerald said he was concerned over the duplicate budgets of keeping Chope open and financing the demonstration project.

Supervisor William H. Royer commented that, "we thought this out. We knew there was going to be duplication."

Fitzgerald said he also was concerned that Sequoia Hospital, which is contracting with the county to provide inpatient care in the project, "did not meet its commitment" to have the outpatient clinic there.

He stated that it is his feeling that Chope is going to close, although we have made no decision.

The chairman expressed concern that the policy of some nursing homes not accepting Medicare patients might "creep into the hospitals."

He opined that the county won't have satisfactory control over private hospital and the care and admission of patients unless a countywide hospital district can be formed.

Royer contended that if it was decided to go to a bond measure to finance renovation of Chope Hospital it would cost the county $1.5 million to $2 million a year to amortize the bonds.

County Director of Health and Welfare Dr. George Pickett reiterated his contention that it would cost $15 million to renovate and modernize hospital, saying "that's possibly a low figure."

Voters approved a measure to go to a bond measure to finance renovation of Chope Hospital it would cost the county $1.5 million to $2 million a year to amortize the bonds.

Bacciocco's proposal was to submit a bond measure in a November election to make up the difference between the 1965 amount and whatever is needed to finance renovation at today's costs.

He hedged on that slightly today after learning that Dr. Basil Meyerowitz, chief of the medical staff at Chope program, "adjusting the Hospital has asserted that number of patients up and down as costs fluctuate.

He said in his proposal hospital could be carried out. He said in his proposal at not much more than $2 that close to 40,000 people million, certainly within the use of the facilities of Chope Hospital, and that some bond funds "if they are used intelligently."

Bacciocco expressed concern that the county, as a guarantor of medical services for the poor and low income citizens, will find itself in a "mini Medi-Cal medical care total 18,700 persons. They said that of the 21,000 "potential near-poor" people mentioned in Bacciocco's recommendation, it has been estimated that 5,000 have Kaiser coverage and 10,000 have partial insurance coverage through their employment.

They challenged Bacciocco's figures concerning use of the hospital. Estimates based on Chope inpatient days suggest a possible "using" population ranging from 15,000 to 28,000, they asserted.

Also, they noted, if the State Legislature passes a franchising law for hospitals (which, they said, appears likely), the state will have the power to forbid outright the construction of health facilities which health planning agencies feel to be unnecessary in view of the surplus of hospital beds in the Bay Area.

Funds Cut for Alcoholism Program

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors Wednesday slashed the alcohol rehabilitation program at Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center after hearing a complaint that the program is "killing those people."

It was decided by the board, which is in the midst of hearings on the proposed 1975-76 county budget of $158.9 million, to fund the rehabilitation program for only six months of the fiscal year.

The board also turned down a recommendation that an outpatient clinic for alcoholics be established at the Drew Health Center in East Palo Alto.

Total cuts reduced the recommended Drug and Alcohol Treatment Program budget of $1,343,000 by $202,393.

The board left intact the nearly $13 million budget for hospital and medical care provided by the county. The budget includes funding for Choppe Community Hospital and for the $2.1 million Decentralized Health Care Demonstration Project in the southern portion of the county.

Bill Combs, director of a state labor-management alcoholism program and a member of the county's Alcoholism Advisory Board, urged the board to close down the alcohol rehabilitation unit at Crystal Springs and to transfer the detoxification unit there out of its institutional setting. The county should establish three regional detoxification units in the north, central and southerly areas of the county, he contended.

Combs charged that the rehabilitation program at Crystal Springs is a failure and that the staff is substituting a dependence on drugs for a dependence on alcohol.

"You cannot continue to maintain an alcoholic tendency with drugs," he stated. "They (patients) line up for pills; they look worse when they come out than when they entered."

Combs asserted that of 64 persons who had completed the rehabilitation program at the center have died, "a high ratio when compared with elsewhere."

"You are killing these people," Combs charged. "I ask you not to fund this program."

County Director of Health and Welfare Dr. George Pickett termed Combs's allegations as "outrageous, without merit or foundation and a disservice."

The rehabilitation unit was established as a non-medical program, he said.

"It is not a pill-pushing program," Pickett stated. "We're not treating alcoholism with a bunch of pills."

Another member of the Alcohol Advisory Board, Leroy Fleenor, also questioned the success of the alcoholic rehabilitation program, asserting that of 2,000 entries to the detoxification unit 15 men made 750 of the entries.

"You have to have a good program to get results," he stated. "Start with cutting programs which don't have results."

"How do we help 15 people who don't want to help themselves?" asked Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald.

"I don't believe that," Fleenor replied. "Most want out, but they don't have the ability to use existing systems."

Kirby Shoaf, administrator of Crystal Springs, admitted that there is one repeater at the detoxification center who is approaching 50 visits.

Gonella Refutes Durocher's Battle Cry

Léo Durocher is out with his third or fourth "autobiography," a book which takes its title from Léo's battle cry, "Nice Guys Finish Last."

Floyd Gonella, the new superintendent of the Jefferson Union High School District, makes Durocher's "triumph" snide and untrue. Gonella is one nice guy who, in fact, finishes first. And he's done it in such a variety of ways — on the playing fields, professionally and in his personal life — that he's got to be regarded as the Utility Man of the Nice Guys.

If ever a script writer wants to develop a prototype story about a local boy who makes good, he could model it after Gonella's life: son of a family with a foreign background, working his way through school and his early teaching years by laboring in a local nursery, becoming a great all-league lineman at his local high school (Jefferson) and having a promising football career at his local college (San Francisco State) cut short by twin knee injuries; his dependency turning into hope when his football coach (Joe Verducci) talks him out of quitting school and makes him an assistant football coach at the college; and then working his way up in his old school district from an assistant coach to the superintendency!

Meanwhile, back at the momestead, Gonella was raising a family with his wife Carol, who is a lawyer and a looker and can talk shop with Floyd because she is also a member of the San Mateo school board. Floyd's sophomore daughter, Michelle, is an outstanding student at Capuchino High. His freshman son, Mike, this past football season, was chosen captain of the Cap frosh squad and was named an all-league player. And Floyd's small son, Stephen, has never once wet his pants at Nueva Day School. They're all nice, and they're all winners, those Gonellas.

Gonella is the Peter Principle in reverse. We've known him personally since S.F. State, when he was pulling typical freshman pranks and trying to crush heads encased in football helmets. But the bad knees made him more serious, if still fun-loving, and, like all resourceful men, he converted misfortune into opportunity. He did it by donating his detonated knees to the cause of the young men in the junior varsity football program at State, privately determining that they would win as he had won at Jeff... and they did, and that was a win for Gonella. And what was Gonella's style of winning at Jeff? He was such a good kid that opponents would smile at him and shake his hand after he had crushed their heads.

He took the same nice guy-but-win philosophy to the

Handy Dictionary In Governmentese

By FRANK LaPIERRE

There is a growing use nowadays of abbreviations by public officials during meetings. And while the user might understand what is being said, the public is often at a loss to comprehend their meaning.

For example, discussion of a transit matter might go something like this:

"UMTA has asked BART to channel the TDA monies through both MTC and the RPC now that ABAG and the BCDC have given the green light for construction of the SFFAP down to SFO."

Translation: The Urban Metropolitan Transit Agency has asked the Bay Area Rapid Transit District to channel the Transportation Development Agency monies through both the Metropolitan Transportation Commission and the Regional Planning Commission now that the Association of Bay Area Governments and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission have given the green light for construction of the San Francisco Airport Access Project down to San Francisco International Airport.

The list of abbreviations grows as the number of government agencies increases.

There doesn't seem to be any end in sight as these agencies are created almost weekly.

Among the most frequently used terms are: BAASA (Bay Area Sewage Service Agency); EIR (Environmental Impact Report); HUD (Housing and Urban Development department); OPEC (Oil Producing Export Countries); EPA (Environmental Protection Agency); SP (Southern Pacific); SMCTD (San Mateo County Transit District);

EIS (Environmental Impact Statement); CALTRANS (California Transportation Department); AOA (And On and On).

SM's Lone K-9 Dog Praised

One dog in San Mateo at least gets $3.50 an hour — and he's guaranteed not to slowdown or go out on strike yet.

He's Mark — affectionately known as "Markie" to a few select friends. He's officially a member of the San Mateo Police Department, and is a partner with his owner, Officer Frank Spann.

In fact he is the K-9 corps.

There's one rookie, but whether or not he will work out remains to be seen.

Chief Vern Coppock, in reviewing budgetary projections, with the city council Saturday, was questioned about K-9 corps. Asked if they were effective, he said, "Yes."

Then, let's get four dogs," suggested Councilman James Chalmers.

The chief said his present plans now cover only two, asked why not more, he said, "Anyone who doesn't want one in the car with him. So we have to set aside a car, otherwise there's objection due to dog odor, hair. As a result, we can only use one car per shift."

When told the dogs are very much effective, Councilman John Condon asked how much they cost.

"We pay the dog by the hour," explained the chief. "It's running $3.50. This pays for their feeding, maintenance and housing at the officer's home." He added, "There are no fringe benefits or retirement pay."

Chamber Boss Told

June Hons has been selected by the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors to be the new president.

According to the chamber, she has served two years on the board and has been active on chamber committees. She served as vice president for chamber development last year.

She and her husband operate Hons Graphics Co. in San Bruno.

Elected as vice presidents were Aurora Tomadoni of Citizens Savings; Nick Roden, of Pacific Telephone; Carl Windell, an attorney; and Al Cardone of Rollingwood Mobil.

then-new Terra Nova High School, and during his second year of coaching the varsity football team, he took a rag-tag squad which had been the doormat of the North Peninsula League the year before, during TN's first season of varsity competition, and took them to within one game and two very bad officiating decisions of taking the championship from perennial winner Westmoor.

Those decisions, both made by the same official — one each in the final losing games to Westmoor and South San Francisco — caused Gonella to want to punch out that official right on the 50 yard line of the Westmoor gridiron. He didn't, because he was stopped in mid-air by half his team. Some critics thought that Gonella was wrong, "not professional" to have even contemplated the thought of socking a blundering official, but we always thought that it only served to show that Gonella is human. We couldn't respect a school superintendent who hadn't, at least one time in his life, wanted to slug a referee or umpire or head linesman.

We are sure that, as superintendent, Gonella will someday have the urge to punch out a social studies teacher or even a member of the school board, but he won't because Floyd Gonella has come a long way since gave up the pros, at least temporarily, for collegiate life at USC. But now, we understand, a proper money package will bring him in from the cold.

Ernie Ribera, Jr., former star Oceana trackman, and a promising sports writer, we might add, has just graduated from Notre Dame with honors (in both track and the books), and has been admitted to medical school at Michigan State, where, undoubtedly, his write-ups of appendectomies will be the most colorful, thrilling such accounts on campus.

MISCELLANY: We hope the Giants don't panic over their injuries, especially in relation to the Garry Matthews mini-tragedy, and trade away promising players just to plug a temporary gap or two. They're ripe to be plucked by those clubs who would take advantage of an injury-riddled, desperate team (which means every club in baseball), and in such situations only blind luck wrapped around a miracle can bring a quickly advantageous trade that won't hurt the club in the long-run.

Tell us, doctor, why is it that Dave Rader and Ed Goodson keep running into each other? Will the Giants' Impossible Mission of a pennant cause that pair to eventually self-destruct?

'People Are Amazed'

No Handicaps in the Water

By GEORGE GOLDING

If you know of any other handicapped children who want to learn diving, we'll be very glad to take on additional members."

Alan Smerican, a member of the Tiburons scuba diving club of San Mateo, had just spent the choicest hours of a day off helping a dozen handicapped kids through their first "ocean dive" at Moss Beach.

Ranging in age from 9 to 16, the youngsters are students at San Mateo county's schools for the handicapped, El Portal del Sol west of San Mateo and El Portal del Norte at San Bruno.

Some of them are unable to walk, on land. In the water, they are like anyone else.

"The biggest fear of a handicapped person," says Elgin Austin, who organized the volunteer classes, "is of falling."

"In the water, they can't fall."

Elgin, a resident of San Carlos, conducts daytime classes for Portal del Norte youngsters, in the small pool donated to the school by parents of crippled children.

Alan conducts evening classes for students at Portal del Sol, at the Clude Devine swimming pool in San Carlos.

Both of them have assistance of other volunteers, plus the cooperation of Devine's pool in San Carlos and Ed Brawley's scuba dive shop in San Mateo.

Sandy Cordray, manager of Brawley's San Mateo store, turned out recently with Mike Engler and a bunch of rental "wet suits" for the youngsters.

Teachers Anita Speciale and Mrs. Dorothy Mankiewicz from Portal del Norte school, and Laurel Peacock from Portal del Sol, assisted with the outing.

Dwight and Marianne Lang, "Perk" and Joyce Perkins, Lance Williams, Keith Schmidt, Andy Coltart, Al Sazio, Mike Donahoe, and Al Mizahara joined Elgin and Alan on the beach. About half are members of the Tiburons club.

The children whose parents had brought them to the sea were helped into the wet suits, fitted with the face masks and snorkels they have learned to use in heated pools, and splashed into the sea.

It was low tide, and the James Fitzgerald Marine Preserve is rich in sea life. The youngsters saw anemones, crabs, starfish, various shellfish and shells, in the quietly surging saltwater.

Offshore, beyond a rocky reef, sea lions barked.

One 9-year-old youngster, floating on a small inflatable raft, paddled seaward.

"It gets deeper as you go out," he said. "I want to go out as far as I can."

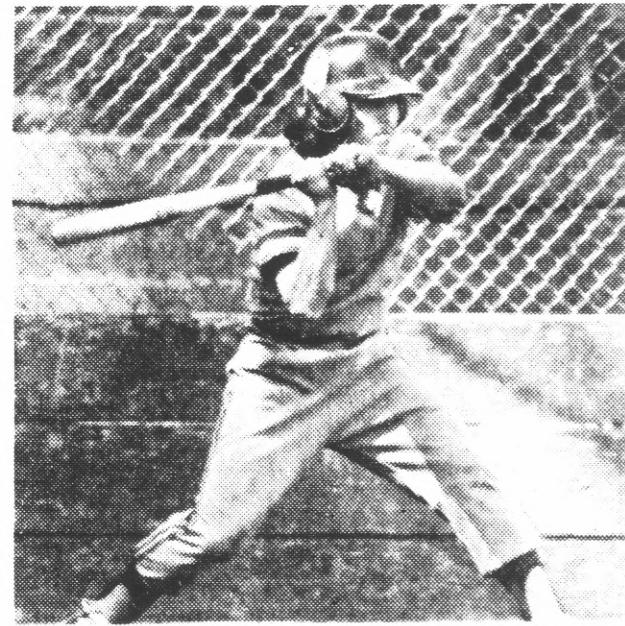

"Most of them are too young for scuba," said Smerican, "better to wait until their lungs develop."

For the first time in the history of thoroughbred racing in Northern California, the average daily mutual handle topped $1.3 million during the spring meet at Golden Gate Fields.

The record daily average of $1,314,664 was set during the 35-day Tanforan racing association meet that ended Saturday. This was nearly 14 per cent above the 1974 average daily handle of Tanforan.

The Jefferson High centerfielder stood about 5-6 at the plate.

But if he walked a lot, it wasn't because North Peninsula League pitchers had trouble finding the zone. They just didn't want to put the ball where Martelle, the NPL's most feared leadoff hitter, could get at it.

Walk or hit, Martelle got on base an amazing percentage of the time, was a standout defensively, and has been named the Most Valuable Player on this year's Times All-County baseball team.

Martelle hit .538 in the NPL and reached base on 79 per cent of his trips to the plate. Included in his impressive array of stats were seven doubles and 15 stolen bases.

Two schools placed two players on the 12-man first team: Central Coast Section champ El Camino of the NPL and South Peninsula Athletic League titlist San Carlos.

El Camino right-handed pitcher Bob Humphrey was the only junior selected for the first team. He was 5-0 with a 1.14 ERA.

Giant Trip Outlined

NorCal Giants Boosters Club members flying to Houston July 25 on their annual trip to the Astrodome will have a choice of two return dates this year, according to club President Allan B. Murray.

The utility position went to pitcher-outfielder Mike Wilgus of San Carlos, who had five game-winning homers.

Outfielder Tom Del Sarto of Sequoia (397) is the only first team repeater. Menlo-Atherton flash Darryl Hughes (429), Burlingame standout Mike McCallion (412) and Martelle complete the outfield.

McCallion, leader of MPL round robin winner Burlingame, was second to Martelle in the MVP voting.

Coach of the year honors went to Tom Martinez of Jefferson for his excellent job in getting Jeff into the NPL playoffs.

The club's three-day weekend returns July 27 after three games with the Houston Astros and a visit to Mission Control Headquarters at the NASA manned space center.

Review of Possible County Sheriff, Coroner Merger

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors has requested that the county administrative staff make a study and recommendation concerning possibility of combining the sheriff's and coroner's offices into a single department.

Supervisor John M. Ward made the suggestion Thursday as the board reviewed and approved the proposed $839,551 budget of Coroner-Public Administrator Paul B. Jensen during the ongoing hearings on the 1975-76 county budget.

Jensen, who is retiring at the end of his current term in December, 1978, said he saw no reason why the offices shouldn't be combined under a single elected official "if economies can be shown."

He noted that 33 of the state's 58 counties have the sheriff's and coroner's functions under a single official and that "all work well."

Also requested for study by the board are the proposals to combine the sheriff's crime laboratory and the coroner's lab as a single function, and whether to consolidate the coroner's office at either the Canyon Sanitarium west of Redwood City or at Chope Community Hospital in San Mateo.

At present, the coroner's laboratory and investigators are located at Canyon, while the public administrator and morgue are at Chope Hospital, and the public administrator's warehouse is located in leased quarters at San Carlos.

Jensen informed the board that he submitted his budget on the assumption that his office functions would be centralized at Canyon. He carved $154,293 out of his budget on that assumption.

Jensen said he will have to submit an amended budget in view of the board's failure to make a decision on the consolidation.

Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald said the board was "not ready" to make a far-reaching decision.

Fitzgerald also urged that some action be taken concerning the Canyon Sanitarium, which for many years housed tuberculosis patients. Only small section is utilized by the coroner's office.

"It's been vacant five years and is costing the county money," he stated. "We should either sell it or use it."

The board accepted a recommendation of County Manager M. D. Tarsches that the county start charging police agencies for laboratory services, particularly blood alcohol tests on drunken driver suspects. Tarsches said that the county will receive an estimated $78,000 a year in fees for lab tests.

A total of eight new employees were authorized by the board for the county's three Municipal Court districts.

state is seeking the death penalty, as the board approved a $1,107,700 budget for the program, an increase of $210,700 over the current fiscal year.

Tarsches informed the board that cutting of one month from the budget for the Decentralized Health Care Demonstration Project in the south county area because the project will not get underway until August, the second month of the fiscal year, has trimmed $129,549 from the budget.

Press Barred From Airport Police Meet

and
BOB HEMINGWAY

San Francisco International Airport officials Thursday morning rejected a San Mateo County Sheriff's office plan to take over policing at the airport.

The plan had been discussed for more than an hour in a meeting in an airport conference room to which members of the press were refused admittance.

Reporters from two newspapers and one television station contend that public officials were conducting public business in a public building and that the public is entitled to know what was going on.

Airports Director William Dwyer said reporters were kept out of the meeting because the subject was "Personnel matters and personnel matters have always been secret."

He also pointed out that the meeting had been suggested by the State Senate Judiciary Committee and that it was not a gathering of any public body, board, commission or committee.

"Only one Airports Commissioner was there," he said. "And only one San Mateo County Supervisor."

Attending the session were

San Mateo County Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, San Francisco Airports Commissioner William E. McDonald, Airports Director William Dwyer, Deputy Airport Director for Operations (including policing) Mike Bagan, San Mateo County Sheriff John R. McDonald, Assistant Sheriff Eugene Stewart, and Assistant County Manager Earl Goodwin.

The battle for law enforcement power at the Airport apparently will go back to the State Legislature unless Fitzgerald, and San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto can resolve the controversy before next Tuesday.

Thursday's meeting resulted from a hearing last Tuesday before the State Senate Judiciary Committee on Assembly Bill 695 which would give the airport police independent police officer powers at the airport. The bill was authored by Assemblyman Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, and Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, who represents a portion of San Mateo County, later joined as a co-author.

Before taking a vote on the matter, the committee requested that the two entities attempt to resolve the controversy on a local basis. It continued the hearing on the matter until next Tuesday.

Fitzgerald said he informed the airport officials that the sheriff's office would be willing to train and deputize airport police officers who qualify. Airport police presently handle security and traffic control at the airport, while the sheriff's office is responsible for crime investigation, a situation which McDonald terms an "unworkable situation."

Fitzgerald said that international and out-of-state travelers arriving at the airport see airport police and believe them to be full-fledged police officers, which they are not.

New Import Store Open in Serra Center

Cost Plus Imports, the retail store that introduced a new concept of merchandising to Californians in 1958, recently opened its ninth store in Northern California at the Serra Center in Colma.

"We've opened the store at the Serra Center to better serve the many thousands of families who live in the area stretching from San Bruno, Millbrae and Pacifica to Daly City and South San Francisco," general manager and executive vice president Andrew Katten said.

The store, located next to Toys R' Us in Serra Center off Highway 280, features meroff Highway 280, features world, plus a nursery facility similar to the one located in the headquarters store on San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf.

Managing the Cost Plus Serra store will be Arthur F. Hand, who joined Cost Plus in 1970 and most recently was merchandising coordinator for branch stores.

South San Francisco Answers Bias Charge

In a tightly bound, nearly two-inch thick document, the City of South San Francisco this week responded to questions posed by the Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) regarding the city's firing last Dec 26 of the then-assistant city planner, Surendra N. Amin.

FEPC now must review that document, to determine whether to pursue the alleged discriminatory firing further.

Ramiro Guerra, 34, of 500 King Drive, Daly City, was arrested by the San Mateo County Narcotics Task Force at the International Inn in South San Francisco June 10 about 10 p.m. for alleged sale of drugs.

Received 10.10.1997; accepted 10.01.1998; unengaged state of drugs.

Vince's Restaurant a Western Tradition

Vince Licata has never been one to remain idle. "Hard work and devotion to one's profession," he maintains, "are the only things which can ultimately lead one to success."

He has backed up his philosophy over the years with the exemplary Vince's Seafood-Italian Restaurant, located at 1528 El Camino Real in San Mateo. Vince first started this business back in the 1940s and very quickly earned a reputation as "The Fisherman's Wharf of the Peninsula." Vince's offers a superb mixture of Italian specialties and seafood favorites that reflect age-old traditional recipes.

Vince has always believed that "the family that works together stays together" so his entire family has helped in the maintenance of Vince's reputation. To be found on the premises in various roles are his wife Nina, his sons Tony and Louis, and his daughters, Angela and Rosaline.

Vince's will be closed June 15 through July 7 for annual vacation. But in the meantime bear in mind that the restaurant is open for luncheon and dinner daily from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Sunday from noon to 11 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to midnight.

Those who spend their time seeking out the dancing floors of the Peninsula maintain this is "where the action is." That's because owners Maurice and Burt book nothing but the best rock groups, as guaranteed as the Pied Piper of Hamlin to draw the younger set. Live music is provided Tuesdays through Saturday, with the Poppa-Groove now appearing. Only a cover charge on the weekends, which makes Abbey Road an excellent spot during the weeknights (although you'd still better expect to see a crowd there).

Lunches are served Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.; dinners Monday through Sunday from 5:30 to 11 p.m. Restaurant is located on the Podium Level.

BALKAN VILLAGE
4898 El Camino Real
Los Altos
968-7251

As authentically Greek a restaurant as you'll find under the management of "the Happy Greek," Louie Gundunas, who doubles as a unique entertainer. Louie specializes in a traditional Grecian dance in which he picks up dinner tables with nothing more than his teeth. Bouzouki music by Sporos Stamatis and his Group. Also providing entertainment (equally breath-taking) is Sabiba the Belly Dancer. The menu has all your Greek favorites: Lamb Kapama (marinated, braised and sauteed in spice sauce) and the Combination Plate, which consists of a little bit of everything. Greek dance lessons Tuesday from 7 to 10 p.m. Decor excellently captures the flavor of the Middle East. Dinners from 5 p.m. daily, except Monday.

BAYHILL LOUNGE
Bayhill Shopping Center
San Bruno
873-4477

The place to have lunch during the daylight hours; the place for entertainment, dancing and romantic interludes after dark. Manager Mike Walsh has given his lounge a wooden decor which is enhanced by low-key lighting. Right now there is a special luncheon offer — two for the price of one (see coupon). Lunches served Monday through Saturday from 11:30 to 3 p.m. The best entertainers provide dance music Wednesday through Saturday nights. Manager Walsh prides himself on his selection of delicious-looking cocktail waitresses — another reason to try this intimate watering hole-luncheon spot.

BEARDSLEY'S
El Camino and Broadway
Burlingame
343-5976

The artwork of English artist Aubrey Vincent Beardsley lines the walls of this chic dining spot owned and operated by Jack O'Brien, Les Hylton and Pat Finnegan. The specialty here is prime rib cooked in rock salt. In addition to the street level dining room there is the Upstairs Room, one of the Peninsula's largest and finest banquet facilities. The main restaurant has two fireplaces, adding to the atmosphere, and there is a pianobar in the Lounge with entertainment Tuesday through Saturday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Family-style dinners served from 5:30 p.m. A large luncheon business packs the place Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

BELLA VISTA
13451 Skyline Boulevard
Woodside
851-9994

Bob and Jetty Hogan own and operate this picturesque restaurant located in the redwoods on scenic Highway 35. Unique view of the Bay and surrounding areas add to quaintness and charm of establishment. Dinners served nightly except Monday. Entrees include filet mignon, New York Steak, Porterhouse, Chicken Saute See Bella Vista (with white wine and fresh mushrooms), pan-fried chicken and Frog Legs Saute Bella Vista. The abalone here is fried to a golden brown. Soup and salad come with dinners. Special children's plates. Extensive wine list.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HOTEL
44 E. Third Avenue
San Mateo
344-2511

This historic hotel, known as "The Park Avenue of the Peninsula," is owned and operated by Erwin and Max Best. The Willow Room is an ideal setting, with its colonial house wallpaper and booths, for breakfast, lunch or dinner, 6 a.m. to 8:45 p.m. "The Willow Special," a full-course prime rib dinner, is offered Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays for $4.25 until 3 p.m.; for $4.95 for the rest of the day and evening. Master chef Roy King prepares his own home-made desserts — pudding, cobbler, strawberry shortcake and Vienna cheesecake. All scrumptious, all low-priced. Cocktails go for only 65 cents; jumbo cocktails for $1.10.

BIT OF ENGLAND
1448 Burlingame Avenue
Burlingame
344-1540

As the name implies, this is a British-style pub run by a chap with a stiff upper lip, Charles McFadden. By Jove, more than 40 years of experience behind it. Not open for dinners but one of the most popular luncheon sites in Burlingame. Mondays through Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Banquet facilities are available for parties ranging from 25 to 60 guests. Lounge is open during the evening hours . . . you'll find a steady clientele here that enjoys the cozy atmosphere and the hospitality of McFadden.

The spirit of the Elizabethan poet, who ate, drank and wenched heartily, has been captured by this unique restaurant near Fisherman's Wharf. An oak-hewn Jacobean staircase leads to the Great Hall dining room, a replica of a 17th Century Elizabethan theatre, where superb Prime Rib Dinners are served by bountiful waitresses in low-cut blouses and full skirts. The menu has been cut back since last year to emphasize those dishes which have been the most popular among diners over the past few years. Main courses are preceded by "fore-dishes" which currently include liver pate, Nova Scotia salmon, an apple and beet combination, shrimp and cucumber slices. This colorful, unique restaurant is owned and operated by the Lawry Corporation.

BERTOLUCCIS
421 Cypress Avenue
South San Francisco
588-1625

An excellent Italian restaurant of long standing (since 1928) that has carried on its tradition of family-style dining thanks to Larry Bertolucci, his sister Lola Bogdan and Mamma Bertolucci (the latter continues to offer her world-famous Cannelloni). Fish, fowl, veal and steaks are served with hors d'oeuvres, minestrone soup or mixed green salad and pasta. In addition to the main dining room, there is a Wine Room that handles up to 20 persons and a banquet room that can take 100. The Mediterranean Room is available for private parties. Current maître d' is Vladimir Cesak, superb Czech master of the continental touch. Favorite spot for the lunch crowd Monday through Friday. Great spot for romantic interludes for two.

BROTHERS
95 E. Third Avenue
San Mateo
343-2311

A delicatessen-restaurant, owned by Lou Romson, that is Kosher all the way down the line. Famed for catering to home and office parties. Home of the original "meal in a sandwich" concept. If you sit in the restaurant, you can watch your food being prepared in the deli portion. Many sandwiches to choose from. One of our favorites is The El Camino, an open-faced sandwich incorporating sliced turkey, Swiss cheese, sliced tomatoes and hard-boiled eggs. There's a three-decker Dagwood Bumstead that is a challenge to any appetite. We defy you to finish it all. For sandwiches, you can't beat Brothers.

Delightful Experience Join the Carriage Trade Dinner Club

Tonight you may have plans for the theater. But what about after the theater? Or what's on your entertainment calendar for tomorrow night?

Thousands of Bay Areans are enjoying the "most delightful experience" of The Carriage Trade Dinner Club, now beginning its eleventh delicious season. This unique dining program makes it possible for everyone to enter the delightful world of the well traveled connoisseur. You will feast on a wide variety of delectable cuisines including Continental, Italian, French, Middle-Eastern, Oriental and Mexican, as well as traditional favorites, in over 50 outstanding restaurants in the Greater Bay Area.

How much does a Carriage Trade Dinner Club membership cost? What price for excellence? ... a modest $15 enrolls you through Dec. 1, 1975 — a full six months of gastronomical delights.

One of the most prestigious dinner clubs in the world, The Carriage Trade Dinner Club is now beginning its eleventh delicious season with other successful, continuing programs in Denver, Colo.; Phoenix, Ariz.; Dallas-Fort Worth and Houston, Tex., and Atlanta, Ga.

The Carriage Trade Dinner Club is guided by retired Navy Commander Barry Sullivan, president, of Phoenix, Ariz., and his wife, Helen, secretary-treasurer of the company. The Greater Bay Area program headquartered at 1535 Meridian Ave., San Jose (Phone: 266-2630), is managed by Alan Hills, vice president. Hills' first love was cooking. His credentials include diplomas from the Culinary Institute at New Haven, Conn., Peter Berini's Epicurean School of Boston, and the University of Massachusetts School of Hotel Administration. He cheffed at ski resorts in Vermont and Martha's Vineyard. He managed restaurants in San Diego, Phoenix and Springfield, Mass., and created an ice carving for Mrs. John F. Kennedy at the christening of the first Polaris submarine.

"We're grateful to the thousands of Bay Areans who have enjoyed memberships in our 10 previous programs," Hills stated. "Approximately 80 per cent of our members renew their memberships from program to program. They certainly justify our conviction that the Greater Bay Area is truly one of the outstanding dining capitals of the world, and that The Carriage Trade Dinner Club is, indeed, the symbol of excellence."

Something Really New at Pine Acres

A unique way to spend your next vacation is to stay at Pine Acres Resort, located in the Sierra Nevada Mountains, heart of the Mother Lode Country. Pine Acres is bordered on the east by the Mokelumne River, on the south by Lake Tabour, and on the north by State Highway 88 and the Kit Carson Pass.

The reason this is such a popular attraction is because you can enjoy any number of recreational pastimes such as swimming, fishing and panning for gold. You can also pick your own life-style at Pine Acres. There is a motel for those who don't want to rough it all the way. There are, for those with greater pioneering spirit, housekeeping cabins equipped with oil lamps. For those who love the great outdoors, even at night, there are campgrounds for pitching tents or parking truck campers.

For added convenience there is a complex of restaurant, saloon and convention hall.

Only six miles away is Roaring Camp, the restoration of an early mining settlement in Mokelumne Canyon. Guided tours are taken daily to this colorful spot, which highlights prospectors' cabins, a general store and a trading post.

For additional information we suggest you write to Pine Acres, Box 56M, Pine Grove, Calif. 95665.

Nautical all the way, with 90 per cent of the menu items being seafood specialties. There is a beautiful view of the Pacific which makes this spot a favorite of diners who travel from all over Northern California to enjoy it. Owner Nick Gust (one-time Mayor of Pacifica) has named the business after his father who originally established the Gust enterprises on this picturesque stretch of beach on the Coastside. Excellent abalone and scampi dishes. Open Tuesday through Thursday from 4 p.m. to midnight, Friday and Saturday from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. and Sunday from 11 a.m. to midnight.

CASA CALIENTE
47 E. Fourth Avenue
San Mateo
348-1419

Owners Manuel Garza and Iggy Sehn have achieved a very realistic and personalized restaurant — you actually feel you're south-of-the-border as you dine on your Mexican favorites. Distinctively flavored and carefully prepared food — everything served here is made fresh daily. The enchiladas, unlike those served in most so-called Mexican restaurants, are made with chunks of beef and not hamburger. The same is true of the chili con carne. Iced beer mugs served with your beer. A popular hangout for those who wish they were back in Mexico.

Italian food lovers will flip over this cozy, informal restaurant that is as faithful to its theme as the Leaning Tower. The dinners include crisp green salad, sour dough French bread, beverage and ice cream — the entrees to choose from lean heavily on spaghetti and meat balls or spaghetti and anything else-you-want-with-it. Prices are ridiculously low in all cases.

Owners Ed Murphy and Tom Chigas also offer a line-up of Italian Submarine Sandwiches which are incredible in size and ludicrous in price. Our favorite combination is the Italian Salami, Boiled Ham and Cheese, although you might prefer the Mortadella, Salami and Cheese combination. Right now there's a special two-diners-for-the-price-of-one. Lunches served Monday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.; dinners 4:30 to 9 p.m.

CHUCK'S STEAKHOUSE
160 Bovet Road
San Mateo

Although part of the Chuck's chain, this steak house is under the private ownership of Larry Hancock and Canning Stevens, who has a complete say in the purchase of meat and seafood. Which counts for a lot when you consider the capacity crowds that frequent Chuck's even on nights that are customarily considered slow in the restaurant business. New York, Sirloin, Beef Kabob and Teriyaki Steak are still among the favorites, with a number of seafood dishes following close behind. Dinner hours are 6 to 10 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays; 6 to 11:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays. THE FISHERMAN
1492 Bayshore Highway
Burlingame
697-1490

From the moment this seafood restaurant opened its doors in August, 1972, it was a smash-hit with diners from all over the Bay Area. Accolades are due Richard and Robert Patane, who oversee the dining room, and their father Salvatore, an expert chef who has had 40 years of experience in kitchens. Vast menu commingles fish dishes (some standard, some definitely outre) with Italian specialties — and in some cases intermingles fish and Italian dishes together. Which makes for scores of entrees. Dancing and entertainment in a beautiful lounge with a view of passing vessels and airport landings. Lunch and dinner 11:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. daily. Excellent banquet facilities for large parties.

THE FRANCISCAN

10 Restaurant Selections at Farmer's Market

Exceptional family dining at reasonable prices is what patrons may expect when visiting any one of the restaurants located within the Farmers Market restaurant complex in San Mateo's Hillsdale Shopping Center. Here, under a single roof, you'll find 10 different international kitchens offering hundreds of menu items.

A "touch of the ocean" is what to expect at Sea 'n' Salad, where fresh seafood is obviously a specialty. Fish dinners, fish sandwiches, clam chowder, fresh salads, fish and chips and soup and sandwich combinations are all menu mainstays.

Steaks are the main attraction at The Steak Inn. The menu at San Remos an establishment where menu prices have remained the same for the past two years. A varied menu prevails, with steak teriyaki, top sirloin and New York cuts all being available.

The Bar-B-Q is always one of the busiest restaurants in the complex. This restaurant is special because of the extra care given to the homemade barbecue sauce that couldn't possibly be duplicated anywhere else.

Typical Italian delights such as veal scallopini, veal cutlets, parmigiana, spaghetti, lasagna and ravioli, along with several different types of pizza, can all be enjoyed at San Remos Italiano. The menu at San Remos offers customers a true variety, including the restaurant's famous meatball sandwich a genuine specialty item which is constantly praised by patrons. San Remos, by the way, has been part of the restaurant complex for nearly 20 years.

A complete line of fountain-type items, plus numerous breakfast selections, can all be found at the Coffee Shop and Fountain. Omelettes, pancakes, waffles, French toast, and the usual egg combinations are all available. Sandwiches and hamburgers, also.

Mexican tossed green and a marvelous Guacamole are among the salad selections at Castillo's Mexican Kitchen, where tasty Mexican fare has been an attraction for years. Located near the center of the Farmers Market complex, Castillo's provides patrons with a menu featuring such items as beef and cheese enchiladas, tacos, tostados, fried beans, chile rellenos and Spanish rice. Chili con carne and Mexican-style macaroni are yet other enticements. Great favorites, also, are the numerous combination plates.

The Wiener House is a restaurant where a wide assortment of wieners can be ordered at moderate prices. Bratwurst, Knockwurst and Polish sausage rate among the most popular choices, and a special weiner plate, at an incredibly modest price, is practically a complete dinner in itself. This spot is also known for a wide choice of beverages.

Baked Virginia ham, roast beef, roast turkey and corned beef all help to make up the fare presented at the Hofbrau.

If Chinese food appeals to your appetite, you'll find a tempting array of items at Ling Wong. A daily special is available, and dinners at Ling Wong always include a choice of any four items.

Sweet and sour pork, chicken almond, chow mein, fried won ton, egg foo yung, the choice is nearly endless. In addition to the incredible choice of items, Ling Wong, because of the modest prices, has a definite appeal for the budget-conscious.

Pastries, of course, are behind the bustling success of Hunt's Donuts, a favored early morning stop for scores of shoppers. Donuts (45 kinds), rolls and twists are all among the tempting sweets available each day.

Besides the 10 international kitchens, the massive Farmers Market complex is also the location for Jack & Jill's Candies, plus the Capri Room, a comfortable cocktail lounge where shoppers and shopping center employees drop in for a bit of relaxation and a cocktail or two.

Sal Campagna, a restaurateur who doubles during the daylight hours as a high school teacher, takes great pride in his small-scale, intimate steakhouse. While space is limited, his reputation has grown rapidly over the years thanks to his professional attitude toward service and food preparation. Campagna often trains his own cooks, keeping alive the traditions he has established for himself. The House of Troy is noted for its steaks and seafood specialties — and its combination plate of steak and lobster. It is Sal's hope to instigate a food training course in high school so that students can be adequately equipped to venture into the culinary field.

But the action doesn't stop there. Napper Tandy's, located on the Plaza level, is now offering Standing Room Only, a group of five singers and instrumentalists who specialize in mini-versions of Broadway musical shows and Hollywood song-and-dance films. They offer three shows nightly Thursday through Saturday at 9:10 and 11:45 p.m. Engagement is limited. Standing Room Only has garnered critical praise from Variety and Billboard, and local disc jockeys have been talking up a storm over the airwaves about the high level of professionalism this group has already attained.

An intimate seafood restaurant overlooking the Princeton harbor and Pacific Ocean, with one of the best views of any eating establishment in the area. Emphasis is on fresh seafood and better-than-average service. Nice selection of wine and beer. Special children's plate for those under 12.

Toshio Kiyohara is one of the best Japanese chefs on the Peninsula and his talent is reflected by the outstanding meals he serves in his simple albeit authentic Japanese-style eatery. There are individual cubicles. (Tatami rooms) at which you can sit, once you have removed your shoes. The waitresses all speak Japanese and are dressed in colorful kimonos. Five different combination dinners to choose from, highlighted by "The Irisuine Dinner," consisting of Sukiyaki (sliced tender beef and vegetables in sukiyaki sauce) and Tempura, prawns and vegetables deep-fried. A family enterprise and a spirited one. Dinners seven days a week from 5 to 10 p.m. Luncheons Tuesday through Friday from noon to 2 p.m.

IRON GATE RESTAURANT

Al Malatesta and Ed Zago are responsible for the high quality of this continental-style restaurant, where you'll often find Al at table-side mixing your special Gourmet Salad (a hearty combination of hearts of romaine, mushrooms, prosciutto and tomatoes) or preparing one of the main courses. These include chicken, veal, seafood and first-class steaks. We recommend Filet of Petrale Sole or the Abalone. Always entertainment in the adjoining cocktail lounge with Leslie and Howard, a duo specializing in musical comedy and serious ballads.

JOVANELLO'S
840 Sansome Street
San Francisco
588-8050

A varied selection of traditional Italian and continental dishes, served under the watchful supervision of owners Joe Piccinini (formerly of Oreste's) and Nello Piccinini (no relation, strange as it seems). This is one of our own personal favorites for evening dining, although the crowd from the Financial District seem to take advantage of its luncheon facilties. Banquet facilities are available with the larger of two rooms having its own private bar. The waiters here are old pros and among the finest you'll find anywhere in the city of San Francisco. Joe and Nello have a flair for seeing that you are served in an elegant manner. Reservations are advisable.

KEE JOON'S
CUISINE OF CHINA
Penthouse Restaurant by the Bay

This Penthouse Restaurant overlooking the golden bay in Burlingame has attempted to recapture the atmospheric splendor of the Sung Dynasty (950-1279 A.D.). Owner Kee Joon has placed emphasis on good taste rather than gaudiness with the hand-carved panels and the marble fountain imported from Taiwan. Menu focuses on the choices of Peking in North China, Yanchow in Central China, Szechuan in Western China and Canton in South China. Discuss any item not on the menu with Kee Joon and he will attempt to arrange it with his chefs.

Francois Ercoli, their father, first started the business as a grocery store and gradually built it up over the years into a leading restaurant. All dinners are replete with antipasto, tossed green salad and minestrone or soup de jour. Specialties of the house include Chicken Jerusalem; Sweetbreads with fresh mushrooms; Chicken Florentina Dore with artichoke hearts. Roast Prime Rib (which is served only on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights); and Stuffed Breast of Chicken. LA DOLCE PIZZA
3048 Cabrillo Highway
Miramar-Half Moon Bay
726-5246

Giuseppe and Pauline D'Amato believe in the family plan. Not only do they cater to the family trade, but they have all their children — Santo, Maria, Rosalia, Vincent, Joseph and Francesca — working for them. The business was established 6 1/2 years ago and features all your favorite pizzas (including La Dolce Special, which comes topped with everything imaginable under the sun), lasagna, dishes, spaghetti, ravioli, salads and sandwiches. Plenty of soft drinks and beers. The business is closed on Wednesday — apparently to give all those children a day of rest. Giuseppe, in striving for a touch of Italian class, has been known to flip his pizzas into the air during their period of early construction.

Enjoy Tanforan Park Shopping Center

A unique dining complex, offering a "come as you are" family atmosphere, can be found on the premises of San Bruno's multi-million dollar Tanforan Park Shopping Center. The entire shopping center is located on the site once occupied by the famed Tanforan Race Track, and since the center was built a couple of years ago, it has rapidly developed into one of the Bay Area's most exceptional areas for shopping, entertainment and dining.

Located on the lower level of the shopping center are the Tanforan Garden Restaurants, nine modern, yet distinctively different establishments with a combined seating capacity for over 500 patrons. The vast array of menu items to be found at the various restaurants is absolutely incredible, with scores of selections guaranteed to please the appetites of every member of the family.

Red Carpet Hot Dog and Pizza, as the name implies, specializes in pizza and several different kinds of franks, including deluxe giant hot dogs. Also, the Red Carpet offers a variety of breakfasts, with the usual egg items and superb omelettes being prepared to order.

Hamburgers, the standard American favorite, prevail on the menu at the Hamburger Inn. But the catch here is that customers have a choice of 17 different types of burgers. Such exotic burgers as the Mushroom Burger and burgers prepared Hawaiian-style are great favorites with customers.

Moderately-priced Mexican cuisine is behind the success of Amigo Mike's. An extraordinary number of menu selections can be found at Mike's, with customers often favoring the combination specials. One of these is a huge plate consisting of chile relleno, a taco and a beef enchilada. One thing for sure, if your palate truly appreciates zesty "South of the Border" fare, you'll definitely find just that at Amigo Mike's.

Unique is a word that aptly describes the restaurant known as Steaks and Chicken Unique. Steaks, chicken and a marvelous selection of fresh salads are the major menu enticements, with quite a choice of Italian dishes also being available. But it's really the steaks, each prepared with a flair, that have made this restaurant famous. And, beyond a doubt, it would be extremely difficult to find the quality steak dinners served here at more reasonable prices elsewhere.

Happy Orange is just that! It's a welcome haven for tired shoppers looking for a refreshing drink. Besides slushes and a choice of orange, pineapple and strawberry beverages.

If your appetite leans toward quality Chinese food, you'll find King Wong Chinese on the premises. King Wong specializes in complete dinners, but the major attraction is the astonishing selection of a la carte items. A daily attraction is a special dinner consisting of any three items.

Filled donuts, in addition to jelly, frosted, old-fashioned, glazed and sugar, plus cinnamon rolls and chocolate and maple bars, can all be enjoyed at Donut World. Besides these tempting goodies, all the appropriate beverages are also available. Hof's Brau is a kitchen that does an astounding amount of business. Lunches, dinners, side orders, you'll find quite a selection there. Sandwiches, salads and beverages, also, plus daily specials ranging from macaroni and cheese to Polish sausage to braised beef tips.

Last but not least is Swensen's Ice Cream Shoppe. And all Bay Area residents realize what the name Swensen's means as far as quality ice cream is concerned. Over 40 different flavors can be found at the Tanforan Park location, plus the usual fare associated with a quality fountain-style establishment.

George Mardikian, Armenian Adviser to American Presidents

(Credit is due Anne Avakian Bishop for the following article, reprinted here from the Armenian Observer.)

"To George — Every time I lose faith in America, I always remember that it made you."

The above quotation was written by President Herbert Hoover in George Mardikian's guest book at his famous San Francisco restaurant, Omar Khayyam's, where America's elite dines on the finest Armenian food.

George learned the age-old secrets of Armenian cuisine from the Mechitarist Fathers. He taught the secrets to the GI cooks. America had the best fed army in the world, thanks to George. In addition, his immortal Song of America, translated into 18 languages, brightened the public image of the United States so that nations became friendlier.

The following Medal of Freedom epitomizes the great Hye's contributions to this country. For the Bicentennial, his dream is to have his compatriots from all over the world, each contributing a small sum, present a second Statue of Liberty to the United States — to be on the West Coast.

"Mr. George M. Mardikian, Consultant, Officer of the Quartermaster General, United States Army, distinguished himself by exceptionally meritorious service in the Far East Command. Motivated solely by an intense interest in the welfare of the American soldier and patriotism for his adopted country, he cheerfully and unselfishly, without monetary renumeration, in his effort to provide better food service for the combat troops in Korea. Without regard for his personal comfort or safety, he visited food service activities up to and including company kitchens and mess lines on the battle front. With vigorous energy, keen powers of observation and analysis, and a dynamic personality, he enlisted the enthusiastic interest of commanders and soldiers alike in the preparation and service of food under varying conditions prevailing in the combat zone. Drawing on his wealth of experience and his mastery of food services problems generally, he capably imparted to those responsible for preparing meals, many ingenious helpful and effective methods of improving food preparation for the American fighting man. Mr. Mardikian's selfless devotion to his mission and his singular accomplishments contributed to the success of the Armed Forces."

With Brigadier General Haig Shekerian, U.S. Army, Mardikian organized, founded and headed ANCHA, which brought thousands of talented Armenians to the United States to share their unique heritage with this country. He also spread his wisdom amongst the Home-netmen and the Boy Scouts, so that the coming generation of men would have high values. He contributed articles to the Reader's Digest, Stars and Stripes, Collier's, This Week Magazine and many others, with a combined circulation in the millions.

A subject of "Sweet Success" and "This Is Your Life," George shared his triumph with his gracious wife Naz, his daughter, Unita Naz, and his son Haig, already following in his dad's footsteps.

WORLD FAMOUS RESTAURATEUR

George Mardikian, who owns and operates the internationally renowned Omar Khayyam's Restaurant in San Francisco, is shown here at his ranch in Napa Valley, where he keeps many plants indigenous to his Armenian homeland. Mardikian arrived in this country when he was 18 years old and went on to become a popular restaurateur as well as a writer. His "Song of America," an autobiography, describes the life and opportunities he found in this country, and it has been reprinted in several languages.

A splendidly quaint Mexican decor greatly enhances this unpretentious restaurant specializing in all those south-of-the-border-down-Mexico-way favorites. Fifteen different combination plates, plus another 15 super specials of the house guaranteed to keep your sombrero spinning. Owner Chris Vlassis is always on hand to greet the customers, while chef Fred G. Perez prepares the traditional and special recipes. Our favorite is the Carne Asada, although some of our friends prefer the Chef's Special — a combination of enchilada, chile relleno, burrito and taco. We defy you to eat it all. Among the house specialties: Scampi Bordelaise, Pate Maison in Aspic, Noisette of Veal Piquante, Lamb Roti, Sauce Chamberlain, and Steak Diane. We always enjoy the Pepper Steak Flambe Louis. Famous desserts Chocolate Mousse, Cheese Cake Mai-som, Baba au Rum, Crepes Flambe Suzette for two, etc. Continental is a way of life for Frutschi and Bollag. MABUHAY GARDENS

The only authentic Filipino restaurant-night club combination you're going to find in the Bay Area. Owners Ness and Julie Aquino have come up with a unique concept — we guarantee the food and entertainment will be totally new and exciting to you. Filipino food really is a flavorful mixture of Chinese, Spanish, Indonesian, Malaysian and American dishes. Most of the entertainers hail from the Philippine Islands, but usually they are skilled in many languages and offers repertoires that extend from Filipino ballads to American folk songs. Although located in the heart of North Beach, Mabuhay Gardens stresses family-style dining. "We always have a clean show here," promises Ness. Mabuhay, incidentally, translates as "long life," and that's what this club is going to have due to its extreme popularity.

MARIA ISABEL
1500 El Camino Real
San Carlos
592-9786

Joe Cordero and his wife Maritza opened this Mexican-style restaurant (formerly the Continental) only a few months ago, but already it is jumping like the proverbial Mexican jumping bean. The extensive menu features 17 specialties of the house — each item carefully picked by Joe after many years studying the demands of the market. Steak Picado, Carne Asada and Tostados Compuestas are other house favorites. No hard liquor but an outstanding choice of wines and champagnes, which are a hearty complement to the excellent forth coming forth from the kitchen at Maria Isabel.

Bay Meadows 'Friendly Race Track'

Bay Meadows, which is nestled between the teeming Bayshore Highway and historic El Camino Real on 200 choice acres in the City of San Mateo, has long been called "the friendly race track." It certainly lives up to that billing, while also being the busiest race course in the Western half of the United States.

Opened in 1934 under the direction of the late William P. "Bill" Kyne, the one time "peanut track" immediately became known for its friendliness because of its founder. Bill Kyne was not only a great promoter, he probably had more friends in the sports world than anybody ever to come along in the San Francisco Bay Area. And he took care of his friends.

Kyne and his associates, Joe Cohen and Bill Hornblower, both since passed away, were instrumental, along with San Francisco Assemblyman, Tom Maloney, still Hale and hearty in his mid-eighties, in getting the bill through the legislature in 1933 that legalized pari-mutuel wagering in California. It was through their efforts the gigantic racing industry in the Golden State came into being. Each year, the State coffers are greatly enriched by taxes on betting at the various tracks.

ROBERT S.
GUNDERSON

When Kyne opened Bay Meadows, he envisioned the State realizing as much as $1,000,000 from horse racing betting. In 1974, that figure was well over $80,000,000. Bill started something.

As the Meadows got the racing show on the road, the Nation was rebounding from a crippling depression and the noises of war were beginning to be heard throughout the world. When World War II came along, Kyne managed to convince people in high places racing should continue. It did at Bay Meadows, with almost $5,000,000, the entire profits, being channelled into service organizations and other forms of war relief.

History was constantly being made at the rapidly growing San Mateo course. In 1945, the first horse ever to be flown winged his way up from Los Angeles to run in a stakes race. His name was El Lobo and he accomplished his goal. The horse was airborne.

Virtually every innovation in western racing was introduced at Bay Meadows.

A harness meeting was first conducted at the Peninsula track in 1946 and a few years later the quarter horses came on the scene. Now, there is a harness meeting each winter and one for the quarter horses in the spring. They have contributed greatly to the fantastic growth of those two sports over the years.

On May 30, 1958, the first night racing in California history was staged at the Meadows, with the quarter horses cavorting under the lights. The initial after dark harness season soon followed.

The growth of quarter horse racing has been phenomenal. At the 1975 short line session, the Golden State Derby had a gross purse of $210,000, richest for any type of racing in California history, while the Bay Meadows Futurity was worth $157,000. Amazing!

While harness and quarter horse racing continues to grow by leaps and bounds, the main dish is the thoroughbred season presented each autumn. During the brief periods when some sort of racing is not being conducted, golfers make extensive use of the nine hole course and driving range in the infield.

After a 12 day meeting conducted in early August by the San Mateo Fair, the thoroughbreds get into action in September and run a collision course with Santa Claus, continuing almost to Christmas Day.

The highlight of the fall season is the $100,000 added California Juvenile Stakes, designed to determine the West's two year old champion. It is the third leg of a Western triple crown for two year olds, started by the Del Mar Futurity and followed by the Norfolk Stakes at Santa Anita's Oak Tree meeting. All three events are worth more than $100,000 and each is of particular significance as the two year olds wind up their initial season of competition, while aiming for the big three year old events of the following year.

The Bay Meadows Handicap is the West's oldest continuously run stakes event, having been inaugurated in 1934 and renewed each year since.

versatile officials, is the guiding light behind the harness and quarter horse meetings.

Laffit Pincay, Jr., clinched his fourth straight national money winning championship at the 1974 Meadows meeting, while Alvaro Pineda, who came to a tragic end in a starting gate accident early this year at Santa Anita, was the track's leading reinsman on three different occasions.

Now in its forty-first year, Bay Meadows has become a Bay Area institution. It is an integral part of the Northern California sports scene and the mecca for followers of the World's greatest spectator sport. There is seldom a dull moment at the little track that has gone big time.

Gunderson and a progressive board of directors are dedicated to the continuance of the improvement program at the Meadows and you can bet your bottom dollar they will do everything within their power to make the operation as convenient and comfortable as possible for both the public and the horsemen who race their charges at the various meetings.

DR. WILLIAM J. WARD

The first four weeks of the fall season are conducted by Tanforan, which closed down its historic San Bruno plant in 1963, with the main portion of 11 weeks being presented by the California Jockey Club, which owns and operates the track. Each year, the premises are enlarged and modernized and the track is now recognized as one of the important and most modern "palaces" for the presentation of the Sport of Kings.

Bob Gunderson is now the president and general manager of the California Jockey Club, while Dr. William J. Ward, one of racing's most Since 1893 San Franciscans have proudly maintained this to be their best German restaurant. Menu includes Sauerbraten and Potato Pancakes, Wiener Schnitzel, Roast Duck with Apple Sauce. Modest prices. Draft beers, wines, cocktails. Closed Saturday and Sunday but open weekdays for lunch and dinner from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Although women were once considered tabu, women's lib has put the kabosh on such chauvinistic behavior, and today ladies are invited at all times.

Memories of the Gold Rush Days Attract Tourists to Colorful Virginia City

Located 23 miles southeast of Reno, the tiny community of Virginia City, Nev., had its first claim to fame with the discovery of the historic Comstock Lode in mid-Eighteenth Century.

By the year 1862 at least 40 companies had erected shaft houses and twelve had installed machinery for pumping water and hoisting rock from the mines. Then came progress when the Virginia and Truckee Railroad replaced the pack horses used to transport the freight across the Sierra now an incredibly popular tourist attraction. The picturesque places and names live on: the Bucket of Blood, the Silver Queen, the Bonanza, the Delta and the Longbranch Saloon. Among the attractions is a cemetery where are buried many of the infamous characters of the Old West.

The town of Virginia City burned to the ground in 1875 in a $10 million fire. The citizens rebuilt their town but soon thereafter the mines began to decline in output, so that by 1940 only a handful of people lived in what had once been a booming boom town.

By the mid-1970's the population had doubled (a healthy sign), although much of the town still retained its 19th Century look and was

Hyatt on Union Square Offers A Room With a View—and Also Offers a Personal Butler

(The following article by Choral Pepper of the Los Angeles Times gives a brief albeit concise a description of one of the many features now offered at the Hyatt on Union Square in San Francisco.)

JAMES is short and wiry. He wears rimless glasses, an elegantly tailed tuxedo, a pleasant expression and what seem to be soundproof shoes.

James is the butler who goes with the 34th floor suites. He had come to introduce himself and perform any duties that might seem expedient, like turning on the bath water or bringing me a martini in the tub.

If all this sounds a bit plush, you can believe that it is. I am in a $200 a day suite in San Francisco's Hyatt on Union Square Hotel.

You can also believe that it is quite by accident that I am here. My reservation was for a $30 room. As it turned out, my overseas flight arrived late and the moderate rooms were all filled.

Rather than turn me out on the street, the nice manager let me have the empty suite for the same price. That's what happens when you keep going back to the same hotel. They try to accommodate you at any price.

This was not the first time that a suite has happened to me, but it was the first time that a butler has. It took me all of yesterday to adapt to the idea. Now, as the hour of parting approaches, I feel sad. I have grown accustomed to his face.

All you have to do is push the butler button to make him appear with an endless array of chafing dishes, silver trays or Italian alabaster nut dishes.

As lovely as all of this service is, it does present a problem. What does one do with a butler?

Yesterday, while I was still a novice, I hurt his feelings by doing things for myself, like phoning down to the bellboy to deliver a package up to my room. One time I even opened the refrigerator door in my living room bar and removed the cap from a coke bottle. Although James subtly scolded me, he took the shock calmly and tried not to embarrass me for not knowing better.

This morning it was my turn to be shocked. He suddenly appeared in the bedroom, about as intrusive as wallpaper, and asked if I would prefer breakfast served in bed or at a table overlooking the city in the living room.

I had hardly decided between a truffle-stuffed omelet and finnan haddie when he had whipped it up in his own little galley down the hall and was proudly wheeling it into the room.

Providing butler service is a new concept in luxurious American hostelry. The man responsible for introducing it is the Hyatt on Union Square general manager, Ed Sullivan, who envisioned the 34th floor of his new hotel as a sort of hotel-within-a-hotel.

The Hyatt is the newest hotel on Union Square and my visit was most enjoyable.

That is exactly what it is, too.

You are as remote up here on the rooftop from normal hotel commercialism as you would be in Windsor Castle, except that here it is more comfortable and the view is better.

Suites with butler-service run from $168 to $225 per day. The rate includes breakfast, hors d'oeuvres and whatever kind of liquor or soft drinks you desire. When you arrive, you name your brand and it is placed on the bar in your living room.

The decor in my suite was super-sophisticated with much brown velvet, glass and chrome reminiscent of the 1930's. The bathroom was absolutely magnificent, with an immense marble sunken tub and a circular stall shower.

The Hyatt is the newest hotel on Union Square and my visit was most enjoyable.

EDWARD SULLIVAN, vice president and general manager of Hyatt on Union Square, San Francisco.

BETTER AIR SERVICE

From Delta Air Lines is now being provided by this Boeing 747 which can carry as many as 370 passengers (70 in first class accommodations) and has a cruising speed of 564 miles per hour. The flight crew of 15 includes eleven "in-flight" attendants to service passengers in the 20-foot wide cabin. The Pratt & Whitney JT9D-3A turbofan engines have a total thrust of 174,000 pounds and can push the aircraft to flying altitudes of more than eight miles. From nose to tail, the Delta jumbojet is 231 feet.

The Many Delta Air Line Services

The services provided by Delta Air Lines are numerous. Every Delta flight carries U.S. Mail, Delta Air Express and Delta Air 70,000 pounds aboard one pounds aboard one of the Delta jumbo 747 jets. Delta was the first airline to furnish the "wide-bodied" LD-N container on a loan basis at no cost to shippers for shipments up to 3000 pounds, thereby facilitating distribution and reducing costs to the lowest round-the-clock level in the air freight industry.

Containerized air freight rates today on many commodities are comparable to those of surface transportation. For the small package shipper in a big hurry, Delta offers DASH (Delta Airlines Special Handling). DASH packages, under 50 lbs., are received at the airport ticket counter or air freight terminal 30 minutes prior to flight departure and may be claimed at either location 30 minutes after flight arrives at destination.

Today's airline passengers can call any Delta reservations number and in seconds receive a confirmed reservation or information on flights to almost any place in the world. The secret of this amazing service is DELTAMATIC, a computer-based system which links over 2500 electronic reservations agent sets throughout the country with a multi-million-dollar computer center in Atlanta. Newest function of the computer is the airline's Guaranteed Fare System, an automated passenger fare, itinerary, and ticket production operation, which offers valuable time savings to customers and the elimination of errors, more legible tickets and the guarantee of the lowest possible fare.

Mealtime on Delta Air Lines is an enjoyable experience. To keep pace in the jet age, Delta continually strives for variety in preparing its menus, which change systemwide every Wednesday. Dining Service officials try to arrange a little surprise each time a passenger is aboard, whether he or she is a weekly traveler or just an occasional passenger. In 1974 Delta served almost 11 million meals. Delta utilizes catering services at 60 cities in the U.S. and international points, all of whom work under the strict supervision of Delta's Dining Service Department.

Wherever Delta flies, its presence at the airport helps spur a city's economic growth. Airport jobs create buying power; airlines and airline-related businesses are important customers for goods and services by other firms; and the airport itself receives self-sustaining revenues from landing fees and rental fees collected from the airlines.

Viking Theme Graces North Shore Inn

Many Burlingame residents will probably remember Mary Knudsen, the charming host-owner of the Denmark House of Burlingame who fed us so well all those years. Well, Mary is no longer counted among Burlingame residents, but she is a well known North Shore restaurateur now that she is operating the Viking Inn, located at Tahoe Vista, seven miles north of Tahoe City, at 7046 North Lake Boulevard.

Give Mary a call at 546-9911 to make your reservations. Incidentally, Mary has not lost her touch at preparing desserts, as you will discover at the Viking

Harvey's Pampers The Stomachs of Its Customers

When mass producing food, it's very easy to throw all concern for quality control to the wind.

When mass producing food, it's very easy to buy low grade quality meats and prepare them in the cheapest manner possible.

Harvey's Resort Hotel and Inn, located at South Shore Lake Tahoe, just across the Nevada border, would frown on such attitudes. For Harvey's takes great pride in the quality of the food it serves.

While it is true that Harvey's serves a great quantity of food each day, it is also true that the company's Master Chef oversees with an eagle eye the 15,000 meals which are served daily. Each one, he feels, must be individually delicious.

"We pamper the stomachs of our customers," says a spokesman for Harvey's. "Each and every one of our diners can depend on the highest in quality, and on the prestige of our chef. We certainly depend on him."

15,000 meals a day is an average day for our chef, yet each one is individually delicious.

You can depend on him. We do.

Dick Roman Onstage Harolds Club, Reno

Popular balladeer Dick Roman brings the sounds of movie themes, love songs, Italian arias, easy listening and contemporary hits to patrons in the Silver Dollar Show Lounge at Harolds Club.

Onstage each evening at 9, 11 and 1, Roman has a smooth and polished act to show off his wide musical range. "Speak Softly Love," "The Theme From a Summer Place," "Love Story," and "The Impossible Dream" are naturals for his rich baritone voice.

Roman, a lounge favorite in Nevada, is scheduled to appear with Buddy Hackett in the main showroom at the Sahara in Las Vegas after his engagement at Harolds Club.

Alternating showtimes are The Samoans, a fast-paced trio who add a South Pacific flavor to the evening.

touch to standards and contemporary songs.

Onstage at 8, 10 and 12, the Samoans feature singer Jerry Grey in sing-a-longs, Hawaiian songs and hits from the top 40.

"My Way," "Hawaiian Wedding Song," "For the Good Times" and "Tie a Yellow Ribbon" are a few of their favorite songs and they also perform requests.

Romantic balladeer Dick Roman and the easy going sounds of The Samoans will be heard in the Silver Dollar Show Lounge through June 22.

South Tahoe Nugget Offers Refund Bonus

"All you can eat" is a common enough phrase in the restaurant business — oftentimes it is nothing more than a hype to get you into the place of business and by then it's too late when you realize the food is of a low quality. However, such is not the case with the South Tahoe Nugget Casino (located at picturesque South Shore Lake Tahoe) which currently offering an "all you can eat" deal which is well worth your time and appetite.

Romantic balladeer Dick Roman and the easy going sounds of The Samoans will be heard in the Silver Dollar Show Lounge through June 22.

But there's more than just an "all you can eat policy" at the Nugget. The casino continues to present a package-bonus deal that enables you to visit the club either by bus or your own car, depending on your own favorite form of travel.

The one-night package per person (double occupancy) is available Sunday through Friday only. The two-night package is available any night of the week and double occupancy.

A total bonus refund of $10 is given to each person: $8 in cash, $1 in food credit and $1.30 in fun coupons.

For up-to-date prices call (415) 345-0488 or (415) 573-8754.

The management offers three menu changes per day and has some of the most reasonable prices on the hill, as the old saying goes.

Barney's the South Shore Favorite for Surprise Refunds

Barney's at South Lake Tahoe is great for getting away from all your personal problems and having a great deal of fun. And there's more than one way of approaching it.

A popular way to get there is by way of a special package program that enables you to travel by bus or in your own car — either way you end up having fun the Nevada way.

This package, available seven days a week, costs only $13.95 per person for a one-night trip, double occupancy. Another package costs only $23.95 and gives you two nights in the Nevada area — any two nights of the week. In return you will receive a bonus value of $10.30 which is broken down into $8 in cash, $1 in food credit and $1.30 in fun coupons.

You can make reservations or receive additional information by calling (415) 345-0488 or (415) 573-8754.

Bus Owners Cite Wood For Tour Business

Larry E. Wood, president of the California-Nevada Golden Tours, was recently named winner by the National Association of Motor Bus Owners (NAMBO) at the conclusion of its Second Annual Advertising-Promotion contest.

Golden Tours is an interstate charter and special operations carrier with offices located in San Francisco, Stateline, Nevada and Reno. The company offers a special charter bus excursion to Harrah's Reno with an $8.50 bonus refund ($6 in cash, $2.50 in beverages).

Wood, who is also head of marketing and advertising, recently commented that "Golden Tours had a record breaking year in 1974. Our gross revenue exceeded $2.35 million; we operated in excess of 2.75 million miles and we transported more than 364,000 passengers."

You Are Put in the Driver's Seat

Whether you like to drive your own car, or let someone else do the driving for you, you will be satisfied with the services now being offered by the A to Z Nevada Tours and Camino Travel.

All you have to do is take your pick of two current programs. Either you drive your own car to Lake Tahoe for a few days of fun, gambling and all-around action, or you take one of the charter buses to the fun lake.

While the main focus in the past has been on the Lake Tahoe area, A to Z Nevada Tours and Camino Travel is now offering Las Vegas and Reno packages, which means you now have your choice of three spots for fun under the sun (or in the shadow of the slot machines, if you so choose.)

For further details about these magnificent tours call the main office at 1415 S. El Camino Real at 345-0488 and 573-8754.

Don't forget that there is a $10.30 refund per person.

Drop in and Be in at the Motor Inn

Santa Cruz is noted for its many attractions along the beach, not the least of which is the famed Boardwalk. The waters of the Pacific always make for a nice setting in this recreation town, and it's nice when you can be close to them.

Which is one good reason for staying at the El Rancho Motor Inn, located only one block east of the Ocean at 510 Water Street. Owners Steele Wilson and Ruth Bodden maintain a clean, quiet and comfortable motor inn — your comfort is their business, and it's a business they take seriously. Otherwise, they wouldn't stay in business.

There is a heated pool for those who prefer regulated water to ocean water, and the Cable TV set-up enables you to get 13 channels. Restaurants and cocktail lounges are within walking distance of the motor inn.

The El Rancho Motor Inn is open all year long and accepts major credit cards. Call 426-6111 if you desire additional details.

El Capitan Hawthorne, Nevada

Hawthorne, the county seat of Mineral County, Nevada, was first introduced to the world at large by American humorist Mark Twain in "Roughing It." In more recent years, Hawthorne has become known through the thousands of businessmen and fun-seeking vacationers who have gone there for the desert air, water skiing, boating, fishing and exploring. One of the attractions that never fails to please these outdoor-types is Barney's El Capitan Lodge and Casino, located in Hawthorne.

El Capitan is considered by those familiar with the area to be an ideal jumping-off spot for a study of Mineral County. For it is a county steeped in historic lore, its now-dormant towns of Aurora, Rawhide, Candelaria and Bellville attesting to the rich deposits of manganese, iron, lead, barium, copper, gold, mercury, silver and talc which exist no longer.

Mineral County is also well known for its hunting: antelope, deer, cougar and big-horn sheep are among the animals which stalk its deserts and hills. Picturesque Walker Lake is famed for its trout, commonly known as "The Cutthroat."

As for El Capitan itself, it is an elaborate club, rivaling

Traditions of Charles Krug Live on Today

Who was the first man to produce wine in Napa County?

The answer is Charles Krug, who first came to the United States in 1852. He immediately began to look for fertile soil for agricultural development, and six years later became a pioneer who would set the trend for many others.

Three years later Charles Krug had his own vineyard and winery and was President of the Viti-cultural Association and a State Viti-cultural Commissioner.

The traditions of Charles Krug live on today in the form of his successor, C. Mondavi & Sons, as their present line-up of wine will attest.

The fine wines of the world are the result of care, patient and an inborn love of

George M. Mardikian

NATIONAL RECOGNITION AWARD By FREEDOM'S FOUNDATION AT VALLEY FORGE To GEORGE MARDIKIAN

For his deep and abiding love for his adopted America.

For his prodigious efforts to tell America about the blessings of freedom too often taken for granted:

"That July morning when I first saw the Statue of Liberty from the deck of the immigrant steamer, it was like suddenly hearing a hymn of hope.

"The priceless thing America has given me has nothing to do with money or fame. I call it the dignity of being Ameri-

"Many fine young Americans have a chance to be something . . . have faith in yourself, faith in your Country, and, third and foremost, faith in almighty God. Back this up with hard work and nothing can stop you."

Omar Khayyam's

From the far corners of the earth

O'FARRELL at POWELL — SAN FRANCISCO
OPEN DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY — 781-1010

It is the home of many new American gastronomical delights. Its colorful owner is George M. Mardikian, famous author of "Song of America," published by McGraw Hill Book Company; "I Found the Happy Land," published by Reader's Digest; many philosophical essays in "This Week Magazine" and, of course, not forgetting his famous cook book "Dinner at Omar Khayyam's" now in its 12th edition.

It was George M. Mardikian who added to the American vocabulary such words as Lavash (Armenian bread), Rose Petal Preserves, Shish Kebab, Pilaff, Kouzou Kzartma Dolma, Paklava, Haigagan Salad, Patlijan and Tchakhokhbelli Chicken and many more.

Many special articles have been written in such National and International magazines as Reader's Digest, Life, Time, Newsweek, Saturday Evening Post, Look, Collier's, This Week, Parade, Women's Home Companion and twice in the Congressional Record.

Known from one end of the world to the other, it was George M. Mardikian who made the great Persian Poet, Philosopher and Astronomer, Omar Khayyam's name synonymous with good food and good living. Many kings, presidents and world's greats such as athletes, writers, diplomats, journalists, stars of the stage, screen, radio and television, have made their habit of dining at Omar Khayyam's.

The location of Omar Khayyam's is exactly one block away from Union Square, on O'Farrell at Powell Streets. It is considered one of the most beautiful dining rooms in San Francisco with Philippine mahogany walls, original paintings by great artists depicting scenes from the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. So don't fail to have a dinner there where you will find every imaginable type of food to please your palate, from charcoal broiled juicy steaks to Shish Kebab and Pilaff, roast chickens, ducks, turkey, ham, to the most unusual lamb dishes.

Cocktails and California Wines will add to your Evening's Dining Pleasure.
